THE DISASTER IN BANKS' DEPARTM'T.

A Letter from a Janesville Boy.

(We are permitted to make some extracts from a letter written by a Janesville boy to his mother, giving full details of the disaster that recently happened in General Banks' Department.)

GRAND ECORE, LA., April 11, 1864.

DEAR MOTHER:—I suppose ere this reaches you you will have heard of the terrible defeat at Mansfield Hills. I take the first opportunity of writing you, as I know how very, very anxious you will be until you hear from your son. I am happy to inform you that I am safe and perfectly well, although many were no; so fortunate as myself. But our battery, our gun, I am sorry, very sorry to say, is non est, or turned over to General Banks' Quartermaster, Kirby Smith. We left Pleasant Hill on the morning of the 8th. Our cavalry were skirmishing all the way for about 14 miles, when the rebs made a stand. The cavalry and the first brigade of our division drove them out. Well, we were behind the cavalry train, and as the road was right through the pine woods, and the road only wide enough for our wagons, we could not go ahead with our brigade at first. Finally the rebs got us just where they wanted us, and our division went in. We were ordered up to the front double quick, along with the 1st Indiana Battery, as the wagons had pulled out so we could get by by running up on a little side hill. Well, we got up to the front, and went into position, but changed again and went into position on the opposite side of the road, in an open field. The only force we had at that time was our division, 2,500 men. The 19th army corps, 9,000 strong, went into camp just as the battle commenced 9 miles back, and Gen. A. J. Smith, 10,000 strong, was back 20 miles.

We commenced firing and fired about 20 rounds when the rebs, who were 30,000 strong, came on with a yell. Our little band of 25 hundred were literally cut to pieces. Well, we fired until the rebs got within about 200 yards, when we had to limber up by Capt. White's order and 'got' to save our guns, and the bullets raining like a hail storm. Then it was that Gen. Banks sent back for the 19th corps to advance, who were 9 miles back. We returned about 500 yards where our 3d divison of 2,000 men had formed a line of battle, and fired about 25 rounds, but what could these few do against such an overwhelming force. We remained there until our horses commenced to drop when Capt. White told us to limber up and make for the rear as we could not do a thing more without support. So, we limbered up and started. Just then Lieutenant Throop was mortally wounded, shot in the bowels. We could not go a great way, however, as the wagon train loaded with forage blocked up the road and we had to go through the dense pine woods. But, we got our guns and cassions about 2 miles, the rebs right after us crying out, "halt and surrender you d—d Yankees." It was not long before we got stuck fast between about a dozen wagons, logs, and in a big mud hole. Then the Captain told us to cut the traces and save ourselves. Well, we started, leaving everything we had behind us, except the clothes on our backs and what we had in our pockets. It was a perfect rabble, a regular Bull Run; it was devil take the hindmost, sure enough. Wagoners on mules, niggers, cavalry, artillery, men on foot and horseback, generals and officers of every rank, everlastingly getting to the rear or any other place of safety. Gen. Ransom remained on the field by our guns, trying to rally the men, until he was wounded and had to be taken to the rear. The ammunition train was to the rear and our infantry, what few there were, were entirely out. Thus, we went it about two miles from where we left our guns, when the 19th corps came up and formed in line of battle. The rebs came on and they did pour the volleys into them from way back. They checked them for a time and as it was almost dark the rebs did not follow us. Our force fell back nine miles that night.

Now I will tell you how I got along: I ran until I got all tired out, and thought I could not walk another inch to save my life. But just then I fell in with Dan. Marble, and soon after saw Tom. Egan, our Chief of Mess, mounted on a cavalry horse. I got on behind him and Dan. walked along. We rode all night until 4 o'clock on the morning of the 9th, when we reached Pleasant Hill. We saw Gen. Smith. He was very angry and swore terribly about the way things were conducted. Well, his division came up, about 8 thousand strong. He masked his forces again and got every thing ready to receive the rebs. Oh, how glad the troops were to see some one fit to command. The 3d division stacked their arms and swore they would not fight under Banks, but would stay by Smith as long as a man was left. We called the roll that morning and found that we had 22 men and 4 officers missing. Lieut. Roe is the only officer we have got. Some of our boys saw Capt. White when he was taken prisoner. We have two men wounded that we got away. I suppose that some out of the 22d are killed or wounded, as they were between two fires, the rebs and the 19th corps. We lost 4 out of our squad, Jo Day, sergt., Sam Hammett, gunner, Sam Bell a new recruit, and A. W. Rumsey. We left Pleasant Hill on the 9th and rode until 1 o'clock, and made 23 miles and lay down very tired. Dan and myself were with the advance cavalry, ahead of the whole train of the expedition which was about 15 miles long, so we came right along. we saddled about 5 o'clock and came on, and after about an hour's ride our boys commenced coming up. We reached this place at 10 o'clock, very tired. We took a good wash, and went down on the wharf, Dan and myself. I went up to a gun-boat officer and told him our circumstances, and he asked us to come with him. We went aboard the boat Mound City, and he introduced us to the officers and we had a splendid dinner in the cabin at the first table with them. They treated us very kindly and invited us to come again. The name of the officer was Mr. Baldwin. We have not heard how Gen. Smith came out only that he cut them up badly. There is all sorts of rumors flying that Smith has retaken 19 pieces of artillery, but there is so many reports in circulation that we do not believe any thing, only that he has cut them up so badly that they are not following him as he fell back. The 8th Wisconsin are with him. I passed right by them on my way back from Pleasant Hill and did not know it. They were protecting the rear, about two miles back. The surgeons were very busy yesterday until late last night amputating and dressing the wounded. The navy surgeons are at work assisting and doing all they can to make the wounded comfortable. It is a terrible blow to our armies and one that will always be remembered. Our division lost about 1,800 men out of 2,500.

HUNTSVILLE, April 11, 1864.

Editors Gazette:—I have maintained a long silence simply because there has been nothing of importance to communicate, and now I may fail to interest the readers of your paper, wrapt up as they are in the political issues of the day and the anxiety they must feel while watching with eager eyes the rising star of Africa's benighted sons, whose gleaming bayonets are about to drive the rebel horde from out the fair land where once the captive's wail was heard as he sunk in agony beneath the slave-driver's lash. It is earnestly hoped by soldiers in the field that negroes may prove efficient, for we are willing to allow them their full share of bullets, and more too, if they can be persuaded to accept of the same.

Quiet prevails here, except from the daily rumors which are ever afloat, concerning threatened raids and large gatherings of rebels in our immediate vicinity, which, however, generally take rise in the imagination of some person. Work is progressing on the fortifications here, and in a short time they will be ready for occupation. Generals McPherson and Logan have established their headquarters in Huntsville, and this city will probably be made a base for future operations. It is rumored that the 16th and 17th army corps are concentrating at Decatur, and from this it would appear that a move is contemplated soon, but regarding the work laid out for the 15th corps during the coming summer, we are ignorant. The prevailing opinion seems to be that we will be assigned to garrison duty along the line of the Memphis & Charleston Railroad; but we have had enough of camp life for the present, and would much prefer a season of active campaigning.

An accident took place to-day which for awhile caused much excitement. A caisson belonging to Cogswell's Illinois Battery was blown up, and seven unfortunate men killed and two wounded. The Battery had been out on mounted drill, and while crossing the railroad track on their return to camp, a percussion shell in one of the ammunition chests was exploded, which ignited the cartridges in the chest, and with a loud report the whole caisson was blown into the air. Six cannoniers were seated on the caisson chests, and were literally torn to fragments. A postillion was wounded in the back by a shell and died shortly afterwards, and two cannoniers seated on the limber of the gun were wounded, but to what extent I have not learned. The mangled remains of the killed were gathered up and placed in coffins, and are to be shipped to their relatives to-morrow. Three of the killed were new recruits, and left their homes but a few weeks ago.

Political Brevities.

—The Washington correspondent of the Springfield Journal says:

"Mr. Lincoln feels certain of the nomination next June. I don't believe he has a doubt upon the subject. Nor does he attempt to conceal his pleasure over the prospect. He is no hypocrite, and does not try to make people believe that he is unwilling to be President for another four years. He wants to be, and expects to be."

—The New York Post's Washington correspondent says that Mr. Lincoln asserts that every public document of his since he became President was his own composition, except the address to the English clergymen, which Mr. Seward wrote.

—First the rebel government ordains that all the officers and soldiers shall serve during the war whether they are willing or not, and then the rebel organs compliment them for their patriotism in voluntarily re enlisting.

—One of the Cole's county, Illinois, Copperhead rebels, who was taken prisoner, on being closely questioned in relation to the number of the Copperheads who met for drill, answered after some hesitation, "Well, you may include the whole Democratic party in this section."

The Massacre at Fort Pillow.

The following statements of an eye-witness, give us a horribly realizing sense of the cruelties and fiendish barbarities that recently took place at Fort Pillow:

"The statements that we shall now proceed to make can be relied upon. We obtain them from an eye-witness and parties who participated in the strife.

First and foremost—perfidy and a lie. During a cessation of hostilities and under the flag of truce the rebel commander secretly made such a movement of his troops as to make the holding of the fort impossible and the capture of it easy. A portion of the rebel troops were ordered to creep along the ravine that partially surrounds the fort and station themselves close to the breastworks, behind which our troops were resting unsuspectingly on their arms, their commander being in conference with the rebel commander in good faith under the white flag. At a given signal the rebel troops thus perfidiously located were to pour over the walls. The conference ended. The flag of truce was withdrawn. The signal was given. Instantly the rebels were in the fort. As might have been expected, and as was utterly unavoidable, at the appearance of the enemy in such formidable numbers and in such magic suddenness, in the very midst of our garrison, the garrison was thrown into confusion and fell back overpowered to the banks of the river. The fort was immediately surrendered; but what was the horror and amazement of Major Bradford to see his troops massacred, burned and buried alive before his face! Besides the rebel troops that were stationed where and when as we have described, there was at the same time, and under the same flag of truce, another squad so stationed as to pour their fire upon our troops when they were driven back to the river. Between these two fires our helpless soldiers perished by scores, after the surrender, and crying in vain for quarter. No quarter was given them. No quarter was intended for them. The blacks and their officers were shot down, bayoneted, and put to the sword in cold blood, the helpless victims of the perfidy by which they were overpowered, and of the savage, barbarous, brutal, devlish, blood-thirstiness that burned in the hearts and impelled the arm of their victors—reveling in their fraudulently gotten victory.

Out of four hundred negro soldiers only about twenty survived! At least three hundred of them were destroyed after the surrender! This is the statement of the rebel General Chalmers himself to our informant. Negroes were compelled to dig trenches into which they were thrown alive!! Our informant an officer in whose probity and moderation we have entire confidence—says he saw the charred remains of negro soldiers mingled with the ashes of their tents! Their tents were fired, and they were prevented from escaping.

They were deliberately burned to death! The spectale, as presented to the eyes of our informant, was one that no human being and no inhabitant of perdition imagined within the range of human or inhuman possibilities on the face of the earth. The wounded with great gashes in their heads and with limbs dissevered from their body, writhed and yelled with agony that terrified the horses, but made the rebel fiends in human shape, laugh, and jest, and jeer.

We have no heart for more words. words may convey the facts—they are inadequate to the reparation of them. Loyal men! The spectacle of Fort Pillow on the 12th is before you—what will you do about it? Submit to it or avenge it.

CONNETICUT.—Of the result in "the Land of Steady Habits." the Hartford Post (loyal Democrat) says:

The almost unprecedent victory in this State is a subject of profound congratulation. Gov. Buckingham is probable elected to his seventh term of office by more than 7,000 majority. The Senate is nearly unanimously Union, while three-fourths of the House can probably be counted upon to pass the Soldiers' Voting Bill, and, if opportunity affords, the amendment to the Constitution of the United States prohibiting Slavery. A renowned day's work was done yesterday.

Men of the Opposition party! the people of Connecticut, the people of the United States, have made up their minds on this subject. They are going to see this war through. Call them Abolitionists if you please; call them abject slaves if you choose. They propose to abolish this rebellion, and they seek the servitude which their country impose upon them.

—All the municipal elections held in Ohio last Monday, with the exception of that in Columbus, went overwhelmning Union. Even Dayton and Lanchester, (cursed by Vallandigham and Olds) which have long been under Copperhead domination, emancipated themselves. Speaking of the results in the cities, the Cincinnati Gazette remarks:

"Little boys are not likely to have eagle buttons cut from their caps, nor little girls to have tri colored rosettes pulled from their hair in Dayton by order of the School Board, upon the presumption that to indicate love of country would be partisan; nor are blue coats likely to be made targets for the pistol-shooting of Copperhead assassins."

—The New York News declares that "the South cannot be restored by force. War is disunion."

LOCAL MATTERS.

FUR COLLAR LOST.—A lady lost on the street on Tuesday evening or Wednesday a mink fur collar. The finder will confer a favor by leaving it at the store of McKey Bros.

SEVERE AFFLICTION.—The family of Mr. Abner Reynolds has been visited with severe affliction within a short time past. Two children, aged repectively three and seven years have died of the diptheria; another one, about 14 years old, is very low, if not already dead, and two others are down with the same complaint. Surely a night of gloom hangs over that household.

BUTTER.—A man came into our office today and offered us four pounds of fresh butter for the Weekly GAZETTE one year!! We did'nt kick him down stairs because he was bigger than "we," but we thought farmers must be doing pretty well when four or five pounds of butter will pay for the largest (and the best) (sub rosa) weekly newspaper in the State! It used to take a large patent pail full of butter to pay for our paper one year, but now a farmer's wife can bring the worth of a year's subscription in a saucer.

IN ERROR.—In our mention yesterday of a fight between two soldiers, we carelessly wrote Milton Junction when we should have said Minnesota Junction. The injured soldier was from Michigan, and had been on a visit it this State. He lived but a few hours after the assault upon him. The man who inflicted the injury was a member of the 17th regiment. We are sorry to learn that some members of this same regiment were also guilty of outrageous conduct on one of the trains of the Northwestern Road, taking entire possession of the ladies' car despite the remonstrance of the officers of the train. The screws of military discipline ought to be put down with a hard twist on such rowdies.

A DESERTER FLOORED.—Some funny things are developed by the government police in their attempts to arrest deserters, one of which took place a day or two since in this city. It appears that the officers had got on the track of an Irishman, who deserted from the 17th regiment last fall. Ascertaining where he lived, they proceeded to his shanty, but found the doors locked and the window curtains down; but having gone expressly to find their man, they concluded to search the premises, and accordingly effected an entrance. The investigation was carried on pretty thoroughly without success; evidences, however, being discovered of the freshness of the trail, in a half mended shoe lying on the floor. At last one of the party stepped upon a loose board in the kitchen, and stooping down attempted to pull it up, but instead of its coming up it went down below the level of the other boards. This created suspicion, and the board being raised, disclosed the Celtic member of the 17th lying flat on his back, his face up in a little hole just large enough to receive his body. He had fastened straps to the board to hold it down in case of a search being instituted. He left his regiment some time in September last, and has been hiding ever since.

THE OTHER ONE.—The confirmations by Bishop Kember on Monday evening, took place at Trinity instead of Christ church, as we erroneously stated yesterday.

THE BALTIMORE American does "not hesitate to say the greater part of the vote which in Missouri, Maryland and Kentucky, will be cast for McClellan, is a vote that would be more graciously cast for Jeff. Davis, and only takes up the other as the next best man."

"LET US," says the Montgomery (Ala.) Mail, "invade then, with our whole force, Missouri, Kentucky, Maryland, and the copperheads will swell our ranks."

—Probably the wittiest saying in the language is Douglas Jerrold's definition of dogmatism—that is puppyism come to maturity.

—There are forty thousand sick and disabled soldiers now in the military hospitals of the country—a number equal to the whole army of the little Denmark.

A CARD.—All Ladies indebted to Mrs. Chas. O. Wright for dress making at the time of her death, are requested to call and pay Mrs. Amsden at Mrs. Beal's Millinery Rooms, immediately.

Things to be Remembered.

First, That it is a positive business necessity to have your buildings, merchandize and other personal property insured against fire.

Second, That E. L. Dimock now has the agency of nearly all the Sound Old Eastern Insurance Companies that are represented in the west, and that the capital represented by those companies is sufficient to do all the insurance for Janesville and Rock County.

Third, That these companies are noted for adjusting losses fairly and paying them promptly.

Fourth, That E. L. Dimock has left a few more of those beautiful calendars for 1864, blotting pads and excise laws for distribution to customers. dtf.

FROM EUROPE.

NEW YORK, April 21.—In the House of Lords, judgment in the Alabama case; six legal Lords were present. The Lord Chancellor first gave his judgment. He argued that under the provisions of the act known as Queen's Remembrances, there was no authority to make such rules as the Juror's Exchequer had made. He therefore moved an appeal, and that the case be dismissed with costs.

Lord St. Leonards, Chelmsford and Kingston concurred, while Lord Cranworth and Menstodale were in favor of hearing the appeal by the Exchequer Chamber. The appeal was therefore dismissed with costs.

The Scotsman understands that the case of the Pumpharo has been settled, the owners consenting to the verdict for the crown and nominal forfeiture of the vessel. They, however, retain possession of the vessel, trade with and make alterations, but not sell her for two years, except with the consent of the crown.

The bombardment of Lunderberg recommenced on the afternoon of the 4th. The Duppel works sustained no injury whatever. On the night of the 5th the Prussians before Duppel drove in the Danish outposts, and took up a position 250 paces beyond the first parallel.

The London Globe hopes that the first act of the Congress will be to compel the beligerents to desist.

FROM WASHINGTON.

WASHINGTON, April 21.—The Senate today in Executive Session referred back to the President the nominations of brigadiers from the quartermaster's department, with inquiry what vacancies they expected to fill, &c. The Senate is averse to confirming the appointments.

Gen. Shepley arrived this evening from New Orleans. He brings important dispatches to the war department from Gen. Banks, relating to army operations in Texas.

Gen. Dana also arrived this evening. He probably will be assigned to the command of an Eastern department.

The Senate Finance Committee had under consideration to-day the National Bank Bill. Several representatives of State banks were bitter in opposition to the measure. The Committee will probably report the bill without amendment, in accordance with the wish of Sec'y Chase.

Gen. Grant to-morrow bids adieu to his family, who go west. He will leave for the front the first train in the morning.

Mail communication northward from the army of the Potomac is suspended today.

About 400 deserters from the rebel army of Virginia were sent north to-day. They took the oath.

WASHINGTON, April 20.—Herald's special.—The transfer of men from the army to the navy has at length commenced. 400 have already collected at Baltimore from the Army of the Potomac and this Department.

Gen. Butler has written a very spirited letter to a high public functionary here of which the concluding paragraph reads as follows: "If the arrangement proposed is carried out, it would have the effect of making me a mere recording secretary to Major General W. F. Smith, who would be the commander of this department. I cannot submit the office of civil magistrate at old Point Comfort. It was no such service for which I was mustered in. I therefore most respectfully demand either to be relieved altogether of my position or have, under the General in Chief, supreme control and direction of any military movements having base within limits of my department."

20 men sentenced to death for desertion had their sentence commuted by the President to hard labor on the Dry Tortugas until the end of the war.

ARMY OF THE POTOMAC.

WASHINGTON, April 20.—Special to the Times.—Positive information has been received at headquarters that the main body of Longstreet's veterans have succeeded in effecting a junction with Lee. Longstreet carried to East Tennessee 18,000 men, but returned with less than 12,000.

Scouts just returned from the enemy's line report that troops from Joe Jonston's army and Charleston are arriving at Gordonsville. Rebel conscripts are coming in at the rate of 1,000 a day.

FROM FORTRESS MONROE.

PHILADELPHIA, April 21.—The Inquirer has a letter from Norfolk giving particulars of a rebel attack on Plymouth and an assault on Fort Gray. The rebels were repulsed with fearful slaughter.

AFTERNOON DISPATCHES.

THE FIGHT IN NORTH CAROLINA!

WHAT "DESERTERS" SAY.

FROM RINGGOLD, GA.

RINGGOLD, GA. April 20.—The enemy is quiet. There is a tacit understanding between pickets on both sides to keep quiet. Patterson, whose brigade pickets in front of this place got drunk at Tunnel Hill a few days since, was placed under arrest.

Miss Mary E. Walker, acting as surgeon of Dan. McCook's brigade, was captured by the enemy a day or two since while visiting a citizen patient outside our lines.

FROM ST. LOUIS.

ST. LOUIS, April 21.—The St. Louis Co. Court yesterday donated a tract of 500 acres of highly improved land 12 miles from the city, known as the Smizer farm, to the Mississippi Valley Sanitary Fair. The farm is valued at between $30,000 and $40,000. The city has already donated and paid into the treasury $20,000 in cash for the same noble object. It is hoped that these munificent gifts will furnish an example worthy of imnitation by our counties and cities in the country, and stimulate individuals, corporations and firms to render the success of the fair still more signal.

FROM NORTH CAROLINA.

PHILADELPHIA, April 21.—The Inquirer has the following:

NORFOLK, April 19.—A refugee from Plymouth, N. C., reports that fighting commenced on Sunday afternoon. The rebels in force attacked Fort Gray, about seven miles from town, on Roanoke River. They planted a heavy battery on Polk's Island, about half a mile distant, and kept up a continuous fire. The rebels then made several charges up to the fort, but each time were repulsed with great slaughter, when they at last retired. A rebel iron ram and four gunboats moved down to the destruction within six miles of town, to co-operate with the land forces. The rebels were 10,000 to 15,000 strong. Their cavalry is commanded by General Rayson. Gen. Wessels commands the Union forces. He says Plymouth is impregnable. Our gunboats are stationed in front of the town. The rebel artillery directed their fire to them. Seven were killed and wounded, it is reported, on the gunboat by bomb-shells. It is rumored that the rebels made a simultaneous demonstration in the vicinity of Newton.

FROM LEE'S ARMY.

PHILADELPHIA, April 21—The Enquirer says rebel deserters who arrived at Washington, state that Lee's force on the Rapidan is 60,000. Longstreet was at Charlotteville marching towards Staunton for the purpose of advancing down the Shenandoah Valley. Lee's army received seven days rations for forward movement.

FROM WASHINGTON.

WASHINGTON, April 21.—The House went into Committee of the Whole for consideration of tax bill at 1 o'clock. The committee had acted on the general provisions comprising forty-seven sections.

FROM NEW ORLEANS.

NEW YORK, April 21.—The Tribune has letters from the army in Louisiana, dated the 2d, 5th and 6th, giving the particulars of some skirmishes previous to those dates. On the 31st of March Gen. Lee's cavalry routed the enemy under Taylor near Nachitoches, they losing 6 or 8 killed, and 25 prisoners. Our loss none. On the morning of the 2d, after waiting all day on the first for our infantry to come up, we learned that the rebels had fallen back to Pleasant Hill, and started in pursuit. After marching 15 miles, our advance, the 14th New York Cavalry, came upon the rebels in strong position, went rapidly at them, and killed and wounded some and pursued the rest 7 miles, when, fearful of being cut off, withdrew from the pursuit, but fought them gallantly until the arrival of Col. Lucas' 8th cavalry brigade. He attacked the enemy and drove them after a severe fight of an hour. The rebel force numbered about 3,000, who all fell back to Pleasant Hill. Our loss was 4. Many rebels were killed and wounded, and 60 captured. Nachitoches was occupied on the 2d. On the morning of the 4th Gen. Smith ordered Col. Gooding to proceed to town, 6 miles distant, and dislodge 300 guerrillas. Our cavalry tried to charge over a bridge, when they discovered the rebels had removed several planks; and the enemy taking advantage of the disorder caused thereby, poured a heavy volley from their hiding places on the opposite side of the Bayou into our men. Adjt. Dunn of the 18th New York cavalry with 9 other were killed and wounded. Col. Gooding deployed infantry and cavalry about Flanktown, when the gunboats opened on the place, and the rebels embraced the opportunity to escape.

FROM BANKS' DEPARTMENT.

WASHINGTON, April 20, 1864.—The military authorities here have received the following dispatch dated Cairo last night:

Two letters arrived here this evening, both from naval officers; one from Grand Ecore, half way between Natchitochies, and Shreveport, dated the 10th; and the other from Alexandria, dated the 15th inst.

The battle was near the place first mentioned.

Gen. Smith appears to have been worsted, also the 11th corps which came to his aid.

Gen. Franklin then took part and the enemy were beaten.

CATARRH, THROAT DISEASES!

ASTHMA, BRONCHITIS!

Early Stages of Consumption!

LIVER COMPLAINTS,

Diseases of Women!

And all other Complaints that Lead to Consumption,

Are treated by DR. HALE, at the Wisconsin Throat & Lung Institute,

Myers' Block, Janesville,

by a new method, and with remedies that are eminently successful in the above class of chronic diseases.

The thinking and unbiased portion of the community will appreciate the great advantage of a permanent and reliable Institute for the cure of chronic diseases that usually baffle the skill of the general practitioner.

Catarrh, that great promoting cause of Consumption in the Northwest, always gives way upon application of the new remedies. Dr. Hale has never encountered a case of this disease he could not cure. The present season is very favorable for applying proper remedies; delays are dangerous. Your case may be cured this month, not next, to-day, not to-morrow.

All who are suffering from any of the diseases Dr. Hale makes a specialty in treating, should at least call and investigate the new system for themselves. No person of good sense and sound judgment will, without full and careful investigation, denounce as "humbug" that which claims to possess merit.

Dr. Hale takes pleasure in referring to the following responsible parties, citizens of Janesville, who can speak knowingly as to the efficacy of Dr. Hale's treatment, not to mention hundreds of others in the Northwest that have been cured:

M. Schuyler, proprietor of the Schuyler House; Dewitt Doyle, N. D. Hemiston, D. B. Stout, F. J. Tupper, Ellis Doty, job printer, J. D. Hayner, W. H. Stamp, M. H. Beckley, N. Rowe, John Kerr, J. F. Drake, Wm. Hyzer, Mrs. W. W. Wheeler, Mrs. C. J. Cheney, Miss Belle Shattuck, Miss N. Wiley.

The list could be extended to an indefinite length, but the above will suffice.

THE DISASTER IN BANKS' DEPARTM'T.

A Letter from a Janesville Boy.

(We are permitted to make some extracts from a letter written by a Janesville boy to his mother, giving full details of the disaster that recently happened in General Banks' Department.)

GRAND ECORE, LA., April 11, 1864.

DEAR MOTHER:—I suppose ere this reaches you you will have heard of the terrible defeat at Mansfield Hills. I take the first opportunity of writing you, as I know how very, very anxious you will be until you hear from your son. I am happy to inform you that I am safe and perfectly well, although many were not so fortunate as myself. But our battery, our gun, I am sorry, very sorry to say, is non est, or turned over to General Banks' Quartermaster, Kirby Smith. We left Pleasant Hill on the morning of the 8th. Our cavalry were skirmishing all the way for about 14 miles, when the rebs made a stand. The cavalry and the first brigade of our division drove them out. Well, we were behind the cavalry train, and as the road was right through the pine woods, and the road only wide enough for our wagons, we could not go ahead with our brigade at first. Finally the rebs got us just where they wanted us, and our division went in. We were ordered up to the front double quick, along with the 1st Indiana Battery, as the wagons had pulled out so we could get by by running up on a little side hill. Well, we got up to the front, and went into position, but changed again and went into position on the opposite side of the road, in an open field. The only force we had at that time was our division, 2,500 men. The 19th army corps, 9,000 strong, went into camp just as the battle commenced 9 miles back, and Gen. A. J. Smith, 10,000 strong, was back 20 miles.

We commenced firing and fired about 20 rounds when the rebs, who were 30,000 strong, came on with a yell. Our little band of 25 hundred were literally cut to pieces. Well, we fired until the rebs got within about 200 yards, when we had to limber up by Capt. White's order and 'get' to save our guns, and the bullets raining like a hail storm. Then it was that Gen. Banks sent back for the 19th corps to advance, who were 9 miles back. We returned about 500 yards where our 3d divison of 2,000 men had formed a line of battle, and fired about 25 rounds, but what could those few do against such an overwhelming force. We remained there until our horses commenced to drop when Capt. White told us to limber up and make for the rear as we could not do a thing more without support. So, we limbered up and started. Just then Lieutenant Throop was mortally wounded, shot in the bowels. We could not go a great way, however, as the wagon train loaded with forage blocked up the road and we had to go through the dense pine woods. But, we got our guns and cassions about 2 miles, the rebs right after us crying out, "halt and surrender you d—d Yankees." It was not long before we got stuck fast between about a dozen wagons, logs, and in a big mud hole. Then the Captain told us to cut the traces and save ourselves. Well, we started, leaving everything we had behind us except the clothes on our backs and what we had in our pockets. It was a perfect rabble, a regular Bull Run; it was devil take the hindmost, sure enough. Wagoners on mules, niggers, cavalry, artillery, men on foot and horseback, generals and officers of every rank, everlastingly getting to the rear or any other place of safety. Gen. Ransom remained on the field by our guns, trying to rally the men, until he was wounded and had to be taken to the rear. The ammunition train was to the rear and our infantry, what few there were, were entirely out. Thus, we went it about two miles from where we left our guns, when the 19th corps came up and formed in line of battle. The rebs came on and they did pour the volleys into them from way back. They checked them for a time and as it was almost dark the rebs did not follow us. Our force fell back nine miles that night.

Now I will tell you how I got along: I ran until I got all tired out, and thought I could not walk another inch to save my life. But just then I fell in with Dan. Marble, and soon after saw Tom. Egan, our Chief of Mess, mounted on a cavalry horse. I got on behind him and Dan. walked along. We rode all night until 4 o'clock on the morning of the 9th, when we reached Pleasant Hill. We saw Gen. Smith. He was very angry and swore terribly about the way things were conducted. Well, his division came up, about 8 thousand strong. He massed his forces again and got every thing ready to receive the rebs. Oh, how glad the troops were to see some one fit to command. The 3d division stacked their arms and swore they would not fight under Banks, but would stay by Smith as long as a man was left. We called the roll that morning and found that we had 22 men and 4 officers missing. Lieut. Roo is the only officer we have got. Some of our boys saw Capt. White when he was taken prisoner. We have two men wounded that we got away. I suppose that some out of the 22d are killed or wounded, as they were between two fires, the rebs and the 19th corps. We lost 4 out of our squad, Jo Day, sergt., Sam Hammett, gunner, Sam Bell a new recruit, and A. W. Rumsey. We left Pleasant Hill on the 9th and rode until 1 o'clock, and made 23 miles and lay down very tired. Dan and myself were with the advance cavalry, ahead of the whole train of the expedition which was about 15 miles long, so we came right along. We saddled about 5 o'clock and came on, and after about an hour's ride our boys commenced coming up. We reached this place at 10 o'clock, very tired. We took a good wash, and went down on the wharf, Dan and myself. I went up to a gun-boat officer and told him our circumstances, and he asked us to come with him. We went aboard the boat Mound City, and he introduced us to the officers and we had a splendid dinner in the cabin at the first table with them. They treated us very kindly and invited us to come again. The name of the officer was Mr. Baldwin. We have not heard how Gen. Smith came out only that he cut them up badly. There is all sorts of rumors flying that Smith has retaken 19 pieces of artillery, but there is so many reports in circulation that we do not believe any thing, only that he has cut them up so badly that they are not following him as he fell back. The 8th Wisconsin are with him. I passed right by them on my way back from Pleasant Hill and did not know it. They were protecting the rear, about two miles back. The surgeons were very busy yesterday until late last night amputating and dressing the wounded. The navy surgeons are at work assisting and doing all they can to make the wounded comfortable. It is a terrible blow to our armies and one that will always be remembered. Our division lost about 1,800 men out of 2,500.

From the Twelfth Battery.

HUNTSVILLE, April 11, 1864.

Editors Gazette:—I have maintained a long silence simply because there has been nothing of importance to communicate, and now I may fail to interest the readers of your paper, wrapt up as they are in the political issues of the day and the anxiety they must feel while watching with eager eyes the rising star of Africa's benighted sons, whose gleaming bayonets are about to drive the rebel horde from out the fair land where once the captive's wail was heard as he sunk in agony beneath the slave-driver's lash. It is earnestly hoped by soldiers in the field that negroes may prove efficient, for we are willing to allow them their full share of bullets, and more too, if they can be persuaded to accept of the same.

Quiet prevails here, except from the daily rumors which are ever afloat, concerning threatened raids and large gatherings of rebels in our immediate vicinity, which, however, generally take rise in the imagination of some person. Work is progressing on the fortifications here, and in a short time they will be ready for occupation. Generals McPherson and Logan have established their headquarters in Huntsville, and this city will probably be made a base for future operations. It is rumored that the 16th and 17th army corps are concentrating at Decatur, and from this it would appear that a move is contemplated soon, but regarding the work laid out for the 15th corps during the coming summer, we are ignorant. The prevailing opinion seems to be that we will be assigned to garrison duty along the line of the Memphis & Charleston Railroad; but we have had enough of camp life for the present, and would much prefer a season of active campaigning.

An accident took place to-day which for awhile caused much excitement. A caisson belonging to Cogswell's Illinois Battery was blown up, and seven unfortunate men killed and two wounded. The Battery had been out on mounted drill, and while crossing the railroad track on their return to camp, a percussion shell in one of the ammunition chests was exploded, which ignited the cartridges in the chest, and with a loud report the whole caisson was blown into the air. Six cannoniers were seated on the caisson chests, and were literally torn to fragments. A postillion was wounded in the back by a shell and died shortly afterwards, and two cannoniers seated on the limber of the gun were wounded, but to what extent I have not learned. The mangled remains of the killed were gathered up and placed in coffins, and are to be shipped to their relatives to-morrow. Three of the killed were new recruits, and left their homes but a few weeks ago.

Political Brevities.

—The Washington correspondent of the Springfield Journal says:

"Mr. Lincoln feels certain of the nomination next June. I don't believe he has a doubt upon the subject. Nor does he attempt to conceal his pleasure over the prospect. He is no hypocrite, and does not try to make people believe that he is unwilling to be President for another four years. He wants to be, and expects to be."

—The New York Post's Washington correspondent says that Mr. Lincoln asserts that every public document of his since he became President was his own composition, except the address to the English clergymen, which Mr. Seward wrote.

—First the rebel government ordains that all the officers and soldiers shall serve during the war whether they are willing or not, and then the rebel organs compliment them for their patriotism in voluntarily re-enlisting.

—One of the Colo's county, Illinois, Copperhead rebels, who was taken prisoner, on being closely questioned in relation to the number of the Copperheads who met for drill, answered after some hesitation, "Well, you may include the whole Democratic party in this section."

The Massacre at Fort Pillow.

The following statements of an eye-witness, give us a horribly realizing sense of the cruelties and fiendish barbarities that recently took place at Fort Pillow:

"The statements that we shall now proceed to make can be relied upon. We obtain them from an eye-witness and parties who participated in the strife.

First and foremost—perfidy and a lie. During a cessation of hostilities and under the flag of truce the rebel commander secretly made such a movement of his troops as to make the holding of the fort impossible and the capture of it easy. A portion of the rebel troops were ordered to creep along the ravine that partially surrounds the fort and station themselves close to the breastworks, behind which our troops were resting unsuspectingly on their arms, their commander being in conference with the rebel commander in good faith under the white flag. At a given signal the rebel troops thus perfidiously located were to pour over the walls. The conference ended. The flag of truce was withdrawn. The signal was given. Instantly the rebels were in the fort. As might have been expected, and as was utterly unavoidable, at the appearance of the enemy in such formidable numbers and in such magic-suddenness, in the very midst of our garrison, the garrison was thrown into confusion and fell back overpowered to the banks of the river. The fort was immediately surrendered; but what was the horror and amazement of Major Bradford to see his troops massacred, burned and buried alive before his face! Besides the rebel troops that were stationed where and when as we have described, there was at the same time, and under the same flag of truce, another squad so stationed as to pour their fire upon our troops when they were driven back to the river. Between these two fires our helpless soldiers perished by scores, after the surrender, and crying in vain for quarter. No quarter was given them. No quarter was intended for them. The blacks and their officers were shot down, bayoneted, and put to the sword in cold blood, the helpless victims of the perfidy by which they were overpowered, and of the savage, barbarous, brutal, devlish, blood-thirstiness that burned in the hearts and impelled the arm of their victors—reveling in their fraudulently gotten victory.

Out of four hundred negro soldiers only about twenty survived! At least three hundred of them were destroyed after the surrender! This is the statement of the rebel General Chalmers himself to our informant. Negroes were compelled to dig trenches into which they were thrown alive!! Our informant an officer in whose probity and moderation we have entire confidence—says he saw the charred remains of negro soldiers mingled with the ashes of their tents! Their tents were fired, and they were prevented from escaping.

They were deliberately buried to death! The spectale, as presented to the eyes of our informant, was one that no human being and no inhabitant of perdition imagined within the range of human or inhuman possibilities on the face of the earth. The wounded with great gashes in their heads and with limbs dissevered from their body, writhed and yelled with agony that terrified the horses, but made the rebel fiends in human shape, laugh, and jest, and jeer.

We have no heart for more words. words may convey the facts—they are inadequate to the reparation of them. Loyalmen! The spectacle of Fort Pillow on the 12th is before you—what will you do about it? Submit to it or avenge it.

CONNECTICUT.—Of the result in "the Land of Steady Habits," the Hartford Post (loyal Democrat) says:

The almost unprecedent victory in this State is a subject of profound congratulation. Gov. Buckingham is probable elected to his seventh term of office by more than 7,000 majority. The Senate is nearly unanimously Union, while three-fourths of the House can probably be counted upon to pass the Soldiers' Voting Bill, and, if opportunity affords, the amendment to the Constitution of the United States prohibiting Slavery. A renowned day's work was done yesterday.

Men of the Opposition party! the people of Connecticut, the people of the United States, have made up their minds on this subject. They are going to see this war through. Call them Abolitionists if you please; call them abject slaves if you choose. They propose to abolish this rebellion, and they seek the servitude which their country impose upon them.

—All the municipal elections held in Ohio last Monday, with the exception of that in Columbus, went overwhelmning Union. Even Dayton and Lanchester, (cursed by Vallandigham and Olds) which have long been under Copperhead domination, emancipated themselves. Speaking of the results in the cities, the Cincinnati Gazette remarks:

"Little boys are not likely to have eagle buttons cut from their caps, nor little girls to have tri colored rosettes pulled from their hair in Dayton by order of the School Board, upon the presumption that to indicate love of country would be partisan; nor are blue coats likely to be made targets for the pistol-shooting of Copperhead assassins."

—The New York News declares that "the South cannot be restored by force. War is disunion."

LOCAL MATTERS.

FUR COLLAR LOST.—A lady lost on the street on Tuesday evening or Wednesday a mink fur collar. The finder will confer a favor by leaving it at the store of McKey Bros.

SEVERE AFFLICTION.—The family of Mr. Abner Reynolds has been visited with severe affliction within a short time past. Two children, aged repectively three and seven years have died of the diptheria; another one, about 14 years old, is very low, if not already dead, and two others are down with the same complaint. Surely a night of gloom hangs over that household.

BUTTER.—A man came into our office today and offered us four pounds of fresh butter for the Weekly GAZETTE one year!! We did'nt kick him down stairs because he was bigger than "we," but we thought farmers must be doing pretty well when four or five pounds of butter will pay for the largest (and the best) (sub rosa) weekly newspaper in the State! It used to take a large patent pail full of butter to pay for our paper one year, but now a farmer's wife can bring the worth of a year's subscription in a saucer.

IN ERROR.—In our mention yesterday of a fight between two soldiers, we carelessly wrote Milton Junction when we should have said Minnesota Junction. The injured soldier was from Michigan, and had been on a visit it this State. He lived but a few hours after the assault upon him. The man who inflicted the injury was a member of the 17th regiment. We are sorry to learn that some members of this same regiment were also guilty of outrageous conduct on one of the trains of the Northwestern Road, taking entire possession of the ladies' car despite the remonstrance of the officers of the train. The screws of military discipline ought to be put down with a hard twist on such rowdies.

A DESERTER FLOORED.—Some funny things are developed by the government police in their attempts to arrest deserters, one of which took place a day or two since in this city. It appears that the officers had got on the track of an Irishman, who deserted from the 17th regiment last fall. Ascertaining where he lived, they proceeded to his shanty, but found the doors locked and the window curtains down; but having gone expressly to find their man, they concluded to search the premises, and accordingly effected an entrance. The investigation was carried on pretty thoroughly without success; evidences, however, being discovered of the freshness of the trail, in a half mended shoe lying on the floor. At last one of the party stepped upon a loose board in the kitchen, and stooping down attempted to pull it up, but instead of its coming up it went down below the level of the other boards. This created suspicion, and the board being raised, disclosed the Celtic member of the 17th lying flat on his back, his face up in a little hole just large enough to receive his body. He had fastened straps to the board to hold it down in case of a search being instituted. He left his regiment some time in September last, and has been hiding ever since.

THE OTHER ONE.—The confirmations by Bishop Kember on Monday evening, took place at Trinity instead of Christ church, as we erroneously stated yesterday.

THE BALTIMORE American does "not hesitate to say the greater part of the vote which in Missouri, Maryland and Kentucky, will be cast for McClellan, is a vote that would be more graciously cast for Jeff. Davis, and only takes up the other as the next best man."

"LET US," says the Montgomery (Ala.) Mail, "invade then, with our whole force, Missouri, Kentucky, Maryland, and the copperheads will swell our ranks."

—Probably the wittiest saying in the language is Douglas Jerrold's definition of dogmatism—that is puppyism come to maturity.

—There are forty thousand sick and disabled soldiers now in the military hospitals of the country—a number equal to the whole army of the little Denmark.

A CARD.—All Ladies indebted to Mrs. Chas. O. Wright for dress making at the time of her death, are requested to call and pay Mrs. Amsden at Mrs. Beal's Millinery Rooms, immediately.

Things to be Remembered.

First, That it is a positive business necessity to have your buildings, merchandize and other personal property insured against fire.

Second, That E. L. Dimock now has the agency of nearly all the Sound Old Eastern Insurance Companies that are represented in the west, and that the capital represented by these companies is sufficient to do all the insurance for Janesville and Rock County.

Third, That these companies are noted for adjusting losses fairly and paying them promptly.

Fourth, That E. L. Dimock has left a few more of those beautiful calendars for 1864, blotting pads and excise laws for distribution to customers. dtf.

NEW YORK, April 21.—In the House of Lords, judgment in the Alabama case; six legal Lords were present. The Lord Chancellor first gave his judgment. He argued that under the provisions of the et knaown as Queen's Remembrances, there was no authority to make such rules as the Juror's Exchequer had made. He therefore moved an appeal, and that the case be dismissed with costs.

Lord St. Leonards, Chelmsford and Kingston concurred, while Lord Cranworth and Menstedale were in favor of hearing the appeal by the Exchequer Chamber. The appeal was therefore dismissed with costs.

The Scotsman understands that the case of the Pamphero has been settled, the owners consenting to the verdict for the crown and nominal forfeiture of the vessel. They, however, retain possession of the vessel, trade with and make alterations, but not sell her for two years, except with the consent of the crown.

The bombardment of Lunderberg recommenced on the afternoon of the 4th. The Duppel works sustained no injury whatever. On the night of the 5th the Prussians before Duppel drove in the Danish outposts, and took up a position 250 paces beyond the first parallel.

The London Globe hopes that the first act of the Congress will be to compel the beligerents to desist.

FROM WASHINGTON.

WASHINGTON, April 21.—The Senate today in Executive Session referred back to the President the nominations of brigadiers from the quartermaster's department, with inquiry what vacancies they expected to fill, &c. The Senate is averse to confirming the appointments.

Gen. Shepley arrived this evening from New Orleans. He brings important dispatches to the war department from Gen. Banks, relating to army operations in Texas.

Gen. Dana also arrived this evening. He probably will be assigned to the command of an Eastern department.

The Senate Finance Committee had under consideration to-day the National Bank Bill. Several representatives of State banks were bitter in opposition to the measure. The Committee will probably report the bill without amendment, in accordance with the wish of Sec'y Chase.

Gen. Grant to-morrow bids adieu to his family, who go west. He will leave for the front the first train in the morning.

Mail communication northward from the army of the Potomac is suspended today.

About 400 deserters from the rebel army of Virginia were sent north to-day. They took the oath.

WASHINGTON, April 20.—Herald's special.—The transfer of men from the army to the navy has at length commenced. 400 have already collected at Baltimore from the Army of the Potomac and this Department.

Gen. Butler has written a very spirited letter to a high public functionary here of which the concluding paragraph reads as follows: "If the arrangement proposed is carried out, it would have the effect of making me a mere recording secretary to Major General W. F. Smith, who would be the commander of this department. I cannot submit the office of civil magistrate at old Point Comfort. It was no such service for which I was mustered in. I therefore most respectfully demand either to be relieved altogether of my position or have, under the General in Chief, supreme control and direction of any military movements having base within limits of my department."

20 men sentenced to death for desertion had their sentence commuted by the President to hard labor on the Dry Tortugas until the end of the war.

ARMY OF THE POTOMAC.

WASHINGTON, April 20.—Special to the Times.—Positive information has been received at headquarters that the main body of Longstreet's veterans have succeeded in effecting a junction with Lee. Longstreet carried to East Tennessee 18,000 men, but returned with less than 12,000.

Scouts just returned from the enemy's line report that troops from Joe Jonston's army and Charleston are arriving at Gordonsville. Rebel conscripts are coming in at the rate of 1,000 a day.

FROM FORTRESS MONROE.

PHILADELPHIA, April 21.—The Inquirer has a letter from Norfolk giving particulars of a rebel attack on Plymouth and an assault on Fort Gray. The rebels were repulsed with fearful slaughter.

AFTERNOON DISPATCHES.

THE FIGHT IN NORTH CAROLINA!

WHAT "DESERTERS" SAY.

FROM RINGGOLD, GA.

RINGGOLD, GA. April 20.—The enemy is quiet. There is a tacit understanding between pickets on both sides to keep quiet. Patterson, whose brigade pickets in front of this place got drunk at Tunnel Hill a few days since, was placed under arrest.

Miss Mary E. Walker, acting as surgeon of Dan. McCook's brigade, was captured by the enemy a day or two since while visiting a citizen patient outside our lines.

FROM ST. LOUIS.

ST. LOUIS, April 21.—The St. Louis Co. Court yesterday donated a tract of 500 acres of highly improved land 12 miles from the city, known as the Smizer farm, to the Mississippi Valley Sanitary Fair. The farm is valued at between $30,000 and $40,000. The city has already donated and paid into the treasury $20,000 in cash for the same noble object. It is hoped that these munificent gifts will furnish an example worthy of immitation by our counties and cities in the country, and stimulate individuals, corporations and firms to render the success of the fair still more signal.

FROM NORTH CAROLINA.

PHILADELPHIA, April 21.—The Inquirer has the following:

NORFOLK, April 19.—A refugee from Plymouth, N. C., reports that fighting commenced on Sunday afternoon. The rebels in force attacked Fort Gray, about seven miles from town, on Roanoke River. They planted a heavy battery on Polk's Island, about half a mile distant, and kept up a continuous fire. The rebels then made several charges up to the fort, but each time were repulsed with great slaughter, when they at last retired. A rebel iron ram and four gunboats moved down to the destruction within six miles of town, to co-operate with the land forces. The rebels were 10,000 to 15,000 strong. Their cavalry is commanded by General Rayson. Gen. Wessels commands the Union forces. He says Plymouth is impregnable. Our gunboats are stationed in front of the town. The rebel artillery directed their fire to them. Seven were killed and wounded, it is reported, on the gunboat by bomb-shells. It is rumored that the rebels made a simultaneous demonstration in the vicinity of Newton.

FROM LEE'S ARMY.

PHILADELPHIA, April 21—The Enquirer says rebel deserters who arrived at Washington, state that Lee's force on the Rapidan is 60,000. Longstreet was at Charlotteville marching towards Staunton for the purpose of advancing down the Shenandoah Valley. Lee's army received seven days rations for forward movement.

FROM WASHINGTON.

WASHINGTON, April 21.—The House went into Committee of the Whole for consideration of tax bill at 1 o'clock. The committee had acted on the general provisions comprising forty-seven sections.

FROM NEW ORLEANS.

NEW YORK, April 21.—The Tribune has letters from the army in Louisiana, dated the 2d, 5th and 6th, giving the particulars of some skirmishes previous to those dates. On the 31st of March Gen. Lee's cavalry routed the enemy under Taylor near Nachitoches, they losing 6 or 8 killed, and 25 prisoners. Our loss none. On the morning of the 2d, after waiting all day on the first for our infantry to come up, we learned that the rebels had fallen back to Pleasant Hill, and started in pursuit. After marching 15 miles, our advance, the 14th New York Cavalry, came upon the rebels in strong position, went rapidly at them, and killed and wounded some and pursued the rest 7 miles, when, fearful of being cut off, withdrew from the pursuit, but fought them gallantly until the arrival of Col. Lucas' 8th cavalry brigade. He attacked the enemy and drove them after a severe fight of an hour. The rebel force numbered about 3,000, who all fell back to Pleasant Hill. Our loss was 4. Many rebels were killed and wounded, and 60 captured. Nachitoches was occupied on the 2d. On the morning of the 4th Gen. Smith ordered Col. Gooding to proceed to town, 6 miles distant, and dislodge 300 guerrillas. Our cavalry tried to charge over a bridge, when they discovered the rebels had removed several planks; and the enemy taking advantage of the disorder caused thereby, poured a heavy volley from their hiding places on the opposite side of the Bayou into our men. Adjt. Dunn of the 18th New York cavalry with 9 other were killed and wounded. Col. Gooding deployed infantry and cavalry about Flanktown, when the gunboats opened on the place, and the rebels embraced the opportunity to escape.

FROM BANKS' DEPARTMENT.

WASHINGTON, April 20, 1864.—The military authorities here have received the following dispatch dated Cairo last night:

Two letters arrived here this evening, both from naval officers; one from Grand Ecore, half way between Natchitochies, and Shreveport, dated the 10th; and the other from Alexandria, dated the 15th inst.

The battle was near the place first mentioned.

Gen. Smith appears to have been worsted, also the 11th corps which came to his aid.

Gen. Franklin then took part and the enemy were beaten.

by a new method, and with remedies that are eminently successful in the above class of chronic diseases.

The thinking and unbiased portion of the community will appreciate the great advantage of a permanent and reliable Institute for the cure of chronic diseases that usually baffle the skill of the general practitioner.

Catarrh, that great promoting cause of Consumption in the Northwest, always gives way upon application of the new remedies. Dr. Hale has never encountered a case of this disease he could not cure. The present season is very favorable for applying proper remedies; delays are dangerous. Your case may be cured this month, not next, to-day, not to-morrow.

All who are suffering from any of the diseases Dr. Hale makes a speciality in treating, should at least call and investigate the new system for themselves. No person of good sense and sound judgment will, without full and careful investigation, denounce as "humbug" that which claims to possess merit.

Dr. Hale takes pleasure in referring to the following responsible parties, citizens of Janesville, who can speak knowingly as to the efficacy of Dr. Hale's treatment, not to mention hundreds of others in the Northwest that have been cured:

THE QUEEN OF THE RYE FAIRIES.

A STORY FOR THE LITTLE FOLKS.

"Franz," said a mother to her boy, who was lazily walking into the garden to pick a handful of berries, "I have something for you to do. Just see how high the peas are. You will find some rods in the summer house; and stick them for the peas to grows upon. They will then become a great deal larger, and our garden will look much more handsome."

"But can't I get some one else to do that for me?" asked the idle boy.

"Shame on you, Franz—you seem to shrink the very slightest labor."

"But, mother," replied the boy, to excuse himself, "we are not so poor that we are compelled to work for our bread. What are the poor people for? You could benefit them by giving them work. One moment you must make me do one thing, and the next I must do another. The sun is hot to-day, too, and I would rather go and sit under our shade elm."

"If man," she answered, "would neither labor with his mind nor hands, he would then be no better than the dumb beast."

Franz went reluctantly to his assigned task, for he disliked to put his hands to any work. His sister Emma had heard all that was said, though some distance off, and she came with her work basket and sat down on the grass near where he began to stick the rods along the rows of peas. She took her knitting work from her basket, though she liked labor about as little as her brother. This did not continue long in this way; and Franz came and sat down beside Emma—to rest out, as he said, and wipe the prespiration from his face. Meanwhile his sister let a number of stitches drop, and did not take the slightest interest in her knitting.

"If mother," she said "had not appeared so serious, I would have asked her permission for us to take a walk along the meadow."

Franz answered. "Oh! would it not be more quiet and shady out yonder in the rye field? We cannot get a moment's rest here in the garden. I would like to sleep here a little while, but the birds would go singing around me, and the bees would be buzzing about my ears. Only think, those troublesome bees are the same little animals that mother says are a useful example to us of industry. Now, you will not find one of there pests in the tall rye. Indeed, I never saw or heard one there. Let us go out there a little while. Fortunately for us, the garden gate is not locked."

"Oh! that would be fine. I would be in the greatest glee in the rye-field; for there I could catch the glistening beetles, and pluck the bright flowers."

"And I could have a little while for sleep," said Franz. "Come on—mother will not be here again till afternoon, and we will be back long before that. Any time of the day is good enough to attend to pea-vines. Ha! ha! nobody can ever make me believe there is any enjoyment in work, for I invariably get tired of it as soon as I get at it."

"Do you know what I would rather be, above everything else?" said Emma. "I would love to be a fairy, for it is about the fairies that our mother has told us so many nice stories. They always live like queens, in the greatest happiness; and they dwell in splendid castles, built of gold and diamonds, and surrounded by gardens, where spring never ends. That would be the right kind of life for me. Then I would have no stockings to knit, or dictionary lessons to learn."

While this conversation was passing, the two children were going out of the garden gate into the meadow. Emma skipped about after the great dragon-flies, and plucked many flowers of the loviest hue and sweetest fragrance. But Franz, after an hour or more, climbed over the fence into the rye-field, and when he had found a cool place in the high grain, he lay down without troubling himself as to whether or not he was breaking off some fine stalks. Although it was only mid-day, he was soon fast asleep.

By and by, after Emma was tired of her exercise, she went into the rye-field, and sat resting her head upon her hand, near her brother. All at once, she saw, but a few steps from her, a beautiful little figure hardly as long as her finger. It wore a dress of bright red poppy blossom which had a belt around it on a single blade of ribbon grass. The hat that it wore was a snow-white flower, which on closer inspection, proved to be a lilly of the valley. Such a fascinating object, Emma had never beheld before; and although she had a good many little porcelain people on her table at home, the best of them could not compare with this living figure. She rubbed her eyes very hard, for she thought it must be a dream. But the little form did not vanish, and she pulled away the grass, so that she could see all its motions. Then she touched her brother very softly, who took it very hard to be disturbed in such a refreshing slumber. But when he saw the little lady which his sister quietly pointed at, he was just as much delighted at her as she was. How quickly she stretched out her diminutive hands!—now lightly moved those little feet, that were clad in slippers of the smallest muscle shell! Now she took her rake of a rose-twig, whose thorns served for teeth, and pulled all the weeds into a pile. Then she laid her rake down and directed her wagon up through the high stalks of rye to where the weeds were. And such a wagon as it was! It was drawn by two stag-beetles, the reins and halters made of cobweb, and the driver so small that his blouse was a blue-bell. A host of such little figures, men and women they were, surrounded the wagon. They were all dressed in flower clothing, and it was a glorious scene, to behold them casting the weeds into it, to be hauled away. Soon the wagon was loaded, and the horses began to pull; and they struggled manfully without even so much as injuring a single stalk of grain. The people who remained behind did not lie down to sleep, but divided their time between playing hide and seek behind a pebble, and a game of ball with a grain of sand. I would give anything if you could have seen how happy they were while at play. They never lost their temper, a lesson to us never to get angry with a playmate.

The little woman in the red dress now appeared among them, and took off her hat to make a speech to them. They immediately collected around her, to hear what she might say. She pointed toward the wagon, and informed them that in crossing a furrow, it became so deeply buried in the sand it was impossible for the horses to draw it out. Thereupon they all started off to the scene of the difficulty, and, after great exertion, succeeded in laying a bridge over the chasm. The trouble overcome, the wagon went safely over, and all the workers joined hands and had a joy-dance; just as happy were they as if they had never worked a moment in all their life. They danced and played until the wagon came back empty again, which they soon loaded with more weeds. When it returned the third time, a singular circumstance took place. Two little children came, with a bucket of water for the tired laborers. Did I say a bucket of water? Yes, a dew drop on a clover leaf!

They were all very glad to get such a refreshing drink, and, after everybody had drank, the two children took the dishes out of a half nut shell, which served for their cupboard, and after spreading the tablecloth—it was a white rose leaf—on the ground, they made the dinner ready. The queen of the company—for the little lady in the red dress was the queen—together with all the fairies, who were her subjects, ate heartily after their labor. Their soup dish was an acron-shell; and how sweetly did the food smell to them! still sweeter was the eating of it. I know you would have been delighted to see that repast. Not a dish was left untouched. Everybody had a sharp appetite, and no food was dropped on the table-cloth. It was just as clean when they finished as when they commenced. And no one took up any unnecessary room at the table, or infringed upon his neighbor's rights, or talked too loud, or too fast, or too much. The queen sat on a sprig of moss that the fairies had taken from an old beech tree.—It was the size of a canary bird's bill, and all persons called it the Queen's throne. No other fairy had such a seat as this—they all sat on the ground.

Emma touched her brother's hand and said:

"These must certainly be the fairies that live in the rye-field, and that loviest of little beings is Roggenmuhme, Queen of the Rye Fairies. Mother has often told us about them you know; but I never thought they were so beautiful and industrious as they really are."

"I supposed mother was only in jest when she spoke of them. But it is a fact—these little people, with their good Queen, work just as earnestly as the very poorest peasants. And after all their hard labor, they are as happy as mortals can be. Such a thing as that I had never dreamed of."

"What beautiful games they played, and not one of the fairies got angry! Neither did I see any of their clothing soiled or torn when they came to the table. They all looked as if they had just sprung out of a bandbox. Their food was so sweet to them, too, though there was but a very little of it."

"It cannot be possible that labor makes a good appetite."

"Well, let us try it, Franz, when we get home."

Dinner was all over, the dishes washed and put away in the cubbord. Then the faries started off to their work, and on the way sang the most beautiful song I ever heard. It was not so loud as birds sing but then it was far sweeter music. Emma and Franz did not follow them to their labor, but were anxious, by this time, to return home. As they arose, the faries saw them, and they all ran away. They did not know that there had been any spectators at their business duties, dinner and play.

Suddenly a storm arose, and Franz declared that it would catch them before they could get home. The lightening flashed so much that they were much frightened, and from the bottom of their hearts did they regret that they had left the garden. The storm came on violently, and almost an hour passed by before they reached home. They were wet through and stood trembling with cold. Their mother, all pale from anxiety, met them. she did not reprove them when she saw their ill condition, but, lest they should be sick, directed them to go to bed at once.

That same night, Franz became very sick, and a long, severe fever came on in consequence of the cold he had caught from being wet. Many weeks he had to lie in his bed; and often he was heard to say: "Oh! if I were only well again! it is so tedious to lie in the bed sick. I do wish I could go out and do some little work, for as often as I think of the little fairies, and that they are not compelled to do it, I must think there is real pleasure in activity and toil. Now I can lie here and sleep the whole day, but I don't enjoy it in the least; and just as soon as I am well again, I will be as industrious and happy as the Fairies of the Rye-field."

Emma had told her mother all that had happened to Franz and herself, and promised to take the fairies for an example of industry and contentment. From that day forth she could sit quietly and attend to whatever duties her mother assigned her; and never had been so happy in all her former days.

When Franz had recovered and went out into the garden for the first time, he found the peas had been bearing and he sorrowfully reflected that they had been cared for by other hands than his. Afterward, he labored every day in the garden, and took the greatest pleasure in training the flower beds, and keeping the walks free from grass. In the evening, he would sit, in company with his mother and Emma, instead of sleeping on the sofa, as he used to do. Nobody would have taken him or his sister for the same children, that were so discontented and idle. It was a lovely scene to see them at their work; and would you believe it, they never forgot the song the little faries sang after dinner, and often sang it themselves. They lived to be of great age. Emma became a distinguished authoress, and Franz became an honored senator.—From the German.

To "Jolly Fellows."

There is a tradition that Brandy was at one time manufactured from the fruit of the vine; but the grapes of France having of late years followed the example of the potato, and taken to moulding and rotting, many of the brandy makers have adopted bituminous coal as a substitute. They distil a potent spirit from this substance which is thus made available for the production of two kinds of fire—one for the comfort of man, and the other for the destruction of his health, his senses, and his soul. Large quantities of alcohol, distilled from coal and "doctored" with certain chemicals to give it the "Cognac flavor," are now exported to this country by these manufacturers, who seem not a whit behind the enterprising Yankee in the production of vile compounds from the most deleterious drugs, which are labeled with high-sounding titles and vended at every bar-room in the country as "pure liquors."

Coal Brandy is the latest adaptation of the good gifts of Providence to the purposes of poison mongers that has come to our knowledge, and doubtless deserves to be classed with the soldier's "commissary whisky," which is generally about as vile as it well can be. Coal tar has long been used for the flavoring of whiskies, but a liquor with a coal basis is a specimen of chemistry which might well make the best fellow shudder. Let those who practice daily imbibitions, in public or private, remember these undeniable facts, that it is almost impossible to obtain a pure article of liquors, even for medicinal purposes, and that the active poisons entering into their composition would, if taken in a concentrated form, produce instnut death. Had the unaided human eye the power to discover at a glance the several ingredients which go to make up fashionable drinks, our most worthy "jolly fellows" would shrink from their taste, in very horror!—People's Journal of Health.

The Cause for Gold Excitement.

Speculators having succeeded in running gold up to an enormous figure, and the high price of gold having carried every wearable and eatable commodity, that people use, from cotton cloth and coffee, down to the more common articles of butter and eggs, up to fabulous rates—Mr. Secretary Chase proposes a remedy or rather two remedies for the evils that oppress the people. He recently addressed a letter to Mr. Fessenden of the Finance committee, which was read in the Senate by Mr. Sherman, in which he says:

"SIR:—Notwithstanding the diminished amount of the United States notes in circulation, and the gradual withdrawl from use, as currency, of interest-bearing United States notes made a legal tender for their face, the price of gold continues to advance. The effect can be attributed to one or two causes, and is probably due in part to each. First, the increase of the notes of local banks, and secondly, the efforts of speculators. I have hardly submitted, through you, to the consideration of the Committee on finance, a bill intended as a remedy for the first evil. I now beg leave to submit to its consideration a bill intended as a remedy for the second. The first bill, if it becomes a law, will have, I doubt not, the most salutary consequences. The effects of the second will probably be more immediate, though perhaps not of such permanent importance. I ask for both a candid consideration, and, if approved, the favorable action of Congress. It must not be thought, however, that I regard either or both of these measures adequate remedies for financial disorder. Nothing short of taxation to one-half of the amount of our current expenditures, and a reduction of those expenditures to the lowest point compatible with efficiency will secure financial success to the government, and without military success all measures will fail.

Very respectfully yours,
S. P. CHASE.

If there be any cure for high prices, and any method of bringing down the feverish pulse of excited and inflated trade to a slower and more healthy beat, it is high time Congress and Mr. Chase should put their heads together and devise ways and means to accomplish so desirable a result. There is no doubt but that the methods hinted at by the accomplished Secretary of the Treasury, will have the effect to allay somewhat the gold excitement which has given every conceivable article of use or fancy a fictitious value and placed many things of common necessity beyond the reach of people of limited means. Gold is the standard of value and carries everything with it. It possesses intrinsic worth which any paper issue does not and cannot, and hence when our paper evidence of indebtedness cannot be readily converted into specie, or when redeimption in coin is remote or doubtful, gold at once cuts the acquaintance of the paper, and the flimsy currency must offer extra inducements to get back upon terms of familiarity with specie. Partly owing to the efforts of shrewd speculators and partly owing to an inflation of our local currency from which the obligation of redemption on demand has been removed, we find a paper dollar worth only a little more than one half its face in gold. The bill referred to by Mr. Chase proposes to check this inflation to some extent by fixing a good round tax upon the circulation of all local banking institutions. This is just and right. As matters now stand the banks are suffered to gather large semi-annual profits upon the paper that nobody knows will ever be redeemed, and there is no good reason why the price of the poor man's bread should be doubled (his butter is now out of the question) and every article of provision put at starvation prices, in order that a few bankers may wax rich in consequence. If individuals or corporations furnish the circulating medium which the Government ought to furnish, they should be made to pay a small portion at least of the taxation to which their operations subject the community.

The other points touched upon by the Secretary's letter, are quite as important and necessary to correct the evils that now beset us, as the one hinted at above. "Nothing short of taxation to one half the amount of our current expenditures," says Mr. Chase, "and a reduction of those expenditures to the lowest point compatible with efficiency, will insure financial success to the Government, and," he adds what the most casual observer must long since felt assured of, "without military success all measures will fail!" That is the great panacea for all the ills that afflict the nation. Give us military success, and the evils that grow out of high prices and an inflated currency will pass the nation as the idle wind which we regard not. And why can we not have it? With an army more than double that of the enemy—with every conceivable or needed appliance of war on sea and land—with immense wealth, unbounded resources, immensurable patriotism, and an undying determination on the part of the loyal masses to save the Government as our fathers made it, why cannot the common enemy, hemmed in and weakened as he is on every side, be struck one mortal blow?

Strike, O, Father Abraham! and give your people peace.

THE NATION—Humanity, and Freedom may well mourn the death of Owen P. Lovejoy. In all history, there is not a more beautiful and touching record than the following from Mrs. Livermore's notice in the New Covenant:

"At the funeral ceremonies in Brooklyn, where he died, a common soldier, a stranger, came and knelt by his coffin and kissed him. An old colored woman also came and kissed him and held up her little child to kiss him."

An unpleasant development was made in Cincinnati the other day concerning Catawba brandy. Responsible vinters declared that the pure article would cost from five to eight dollars a gallon, adding that there was no genuine article of the kind in the market—the quality generally sold consisting of pomace, whiskey and fusel oil.

NEWSPAPERARCHIVE®

THE QUEEN OF THE RYE FARIES.

A STORY FOR THE LITTLE FOLKS.

"Franz," said a mother to her boy, who was lazily walking into the garden to pick a handful of berries, "I have something for you to do. Just see how high the peas are. You will find some rods in the summer house; and stick them for the peas to grows upon. They will then become a great deal larger, and our garden will look much more handsome."

"But can't I get some one else to do that for me?" asked the idle boy.

"Shame on you, Franz—you seem to shrink the very slightest labor."

"But, mother," replied the boy, to excuse himself, "we are not so poor that we are compelled to work for our bread. What are the poor people for? You could benefit them by giving them work. One moment you must make me do one thing, and the next I must do another. The sun is hot to-day, too, and I would rather go and sit under our shade elm."

"If man," she answered, "would neither labor with his mind nor hands, he would then be no better than the dumb beast."

Franz went reluctantly to his assigned task, for he disliked to put his hands to any work. His sister Emma had heard all that was said, though some distance off, and she came with her work basket and sat down on the grass near where he began to stick the rods along the rows of peas. She took her knitting work from her basket, though she liked labor about as little as her brother. This did not continue long in this way; and Franz came and sat down beside Emma—to rest out, as he said, and wipe the prespiration from his face. Meanwhile his sister let a number of stitches drop, and did not take the slightest interest in her knitting.

"If mother," she said "had not appeared so serious, I would have asked her permission for us to take a walk along the meadow."

Franz answered. "Oh! would it not be more quiet and shady out yonder in the rye field? We cannot get a moment's rest here in the garden. I would like to sleep here a little while, but the birds would go singing around me, and the bees would be buzzing about my ears. Only think, those troublesome bees are the same little animals that mother says are a useful example to us of industry. Now, you will not find one of there pests in the tall rye. Indeed, I never saw or heard one there. Let us go out there a little while. Fortunately for us, the garden gate is not locked."

"Oh! that would be fine. I would be in the greatest glee in the rye-field; for there I could catch the glistening beetles, and pluck the bright flowers."

"And I could have a little while for sleep," said Franz. "Come on—mother will not be here again till afternoon, and we will be back long before that. Any time of the day is good enough to attend to pea-vines. Ha! ha! nobody can ever make me believe there is any enjoyment in work, for I invariably get tired of it as soon as I get at it."

"Do you know what I would rather be, above everything else?" said Emma. "I would love to be a fairy, for it is about the fairies that our mother has told us so many nice stories. They always live like queens, in the greatest happiness; and they dwell in splendid castles, built of gold and diamonds, and surrounded by gardens, where spring never ends. That would be the right kind of life for me. Then I would have no stockings to knit, or dictionary lessons to learn."

While this conversation was passing, the two children were going out of the garden gate into the meadow. Emma skipped about after the great dragon-flies, and plucked many flowers of the loviest hue and sweetest fragrance. But Franz, after an hour or more, climbed over the fence into the rye-field, and when he had found a cool place in the high grain, he lay down without troubling himself as to whether or not he was breaking off some fine stalks. Although it was only mid-day, he was soon fast asleep.

By and by, after Emma was tired of her exercise, she went into the rye-field, and sat resting her head upon her hand, near her brother. All at once, she saw, but a few steps from her, a beautiful little figure hardly as long as her finger. It wore a dress of bright red poppy blossom which had a belt around it on a single blade of ribbon grass. The hat that it wore was a snow-white flower, which on closer inspection, proved to be a lilly of the valley. Such a fascinating object, Emma had never beheld before; and although she had a good many little porcelain people on her table at home, the best of them could not compare with this living figure. She rubbed her eyes very hard, for she thought it must be a dream. But the little form did not vanish, and she pulled away the grass, so that she could see all its motions. Then she touched her brother very softly, who took it very hard to be disturbed in such a refreshing slumber. But when he saw the little lady which his sister quietly pointed at, he was just as much delighted at her as she was. How quickly she stretched out her diminutive hands!—now lightly moved those little feet, that were clad in slippers of the smallest muscle shell! Now she took her rake of a rose-twig, whose thorns served for teeth, and pulled all the weeds into a pile. Then she laid her rake down and directed her wagon up through the high stalks of rye to where the weeds were. And such a wagon as it was! It was drawn by two stag-beetles, the reins and halters made of cobweb, and the driver so small that his blouse was a blue-bell. A host of such little figures, men and women they were, surrounded the wagon. They were all dressed in flower clothing, and it was a glorious scene, to behold them casting the weeds into it, to be hauled away. Soon the wagon was loaded, and the horses began to pull; and they struggled manfully without even so much as injuring a single stalk of grain. The people who remained behind did not lie down to sleep, but divided their time between playing hide and seek behind a pebble, and a game of ball with a grain of sand. I would give anything if you could have seen how happy they were while at play. They never lost their temper, a lesson to us never to get angry with a playmate.

The little woman in the red dress now appeared among them, and took off her hat to make a speech to them. They immediately collected around her, to hear what she might say. She pointed toward the wagon, and informed them that in crossing a furrow, it became so deeply buried in the sand it was impossible for the horses to draw it out. Thereupon they all started off to the scene of the difficulty, and, after great exertion, succeeded in laying a bridge over the chasm. The trouble overcome, the wagon went safely over, and all the workers joined hands and had a joy-dance; just as happy were they as if they had never worked a moment in all their life. They danced and played until the wagon came back empty again, which they soon loaded with more weeds. When it returned the third time, a singular circumstance took place. Two little children came, with a bucket of water for the tired laborers. Did I say a bucket of water? Yes, a dew drop on a clover leaf!

They were all very glad to get such a refreshing drink, and, after everybody had drank, the two children took the dishes out of a half nut shell, which served for their cupboard, and after spreading the tablecloth—it was a white rose leaf—on the ground, they made the dinner ready. The queen of the company—for the little lady in the red dress was the queen—together with all the fairies, who were her subjects, ate heartily after their labor. Their soup dish was an acron-shell; and how sweetly did the food smell—to them; still sweeter was the eating of it. I know you would have been delighted to see that repast. Not a dish was left untouched. Everybody had a sharp appetite, and no food was dropped on the table-cloth. It was just as clean when they finished as when they commenced. And no one took up any unnecessary room at the table, or infringed upon his neighbor's rights, or talked too loud, or too fast, or too much. The queen sat on a sprig of moss that the fairies had taken from an old beech tree.—It was the size of a canary bird's bill, and all persons called it the Queen's throne. No other fairy had such a seat as this—they all sat on the ground.

Emma touched her brother's hand and said:

"These must certainly be the fairies that live in the rye-field, and that loviest of little beings is Roggenmuhme, Queen of the Rye Fairies. Mother has often told us about them you know; but I never thought they were so beautiful and industrious as they really are."

"I supposed mother was only in jest when she spoke of them. But it is a fact—those little people, with their good Queen, work just as earnestly as the very poorest peasants. And after all their hard labor, they are as happy as mortals can be. Such a thing as that I had never dreamed of."

"What beautiful games they played, and not one of the fairies got angry! Neither did I see any of their clothing soiled or torn when they came to the table. They all looked as if they had just sprung out of a bandbox. Their food was so sweet to them, too, though there was but a very little of it."

"It cannot be possible that labor makes a good appetite."

"Well, let us try it, Franz, when we get home."

Dinner was all over, the dishes washed and put away in the cubbord. Then the furies started off to their work, and on the way sang the most beautiful song I ever heard. It was not so loud as birds sing but then it was far sweeter music. Emma and Franz did not follow them to their labor, but were anxious, by this time, to return home. As they arose, the faries saw them, and they all ran away. They did not know that there had been any spectators at their business duties, dinner and play.

Suddenly a storm arose, and Franz declared that it would catch them before they could get home. The lightening flashed so much that they were much frightened, and from the bottom of their hearts did they regret that they had left the garden. The storm came on violently, and almost an hour passed by before they reached home. They were wet through and stood trembling with cold. Their mother, all pale from anxiety, met them. she did not reprove them when she saw their ill condition, but, lest they should be sick, directed them to go to bed at once.

That same night, Franz became very sick, and a long, severe fever came on in consequence of the cold he had caught from being wet. Many weeks he had to lie in his bed; and often he was heard to say: "Oh! if I were only well again! it is so tedious to lie in the bed sick. I do wish I could go out and do some little work, for as often as I think of the little fairies, and that they are not compelled to do it, I must think there is real pleasure in activity and toil. Now I can lie here and sleep the whole day, but I don't enjoy it in the least; and just as soon as I am well again, I will be as industrious and happy as the Fairies of the Rye-field."

Emma had told her mother all that had happened to Franz and herself, and promised to take the fairies for an example of industry and contentment. From that day forth she could sit quietly and attend to whatever duties her mother assigned her; and never had been so happy in all her former days.

When Franz had recovered and went out into the garden for the first time, he found the peas had been bearing and he sorrowfully reflected that they had been cared for by other hands than his. Afterward, he labored every day in the garden, and took the greatest pleasure in training the flower beds, and keeping the walks free from grass. In the evening, he would sit, in company with his mother and Emma, instead of sleeping on the sofa, as he used to do. Nobody would have taken him or his sister for the same children, that were so discontented and idle. It was a lovely scene to see them at their work; and would you believe it, they never forgot the song the little faries sang after dinner, and often sang it themselves. They lived to be of great age. Emma became a distinguished authoress, and Franz became an honored senator.—From the German.

To "Jolly Fellows."

There is a tradition that Brandy was at one time manufactured from the fruit of the vine; but the grapes of France having of late years followed the example of the potato, and taken to moulding and rotting, many of the brandy makers have adopted bituminous coal as a substitute. They distil a potent spirit from this substance which is thus made available for the production of two kinds of fire—one for the comfort of man, and the other for the destruction of his health, his sonses, and his soul. Large quantities of alcohol, distilled from coal and "doctored" with certain chemicals to give it the "Cognac flavor," are now exported to this country by these manufacturers, who seem not a whit behind the enterprising Yankee in the production of vile compounds from the most deleterious drugs, which are labeled with high-sounding titles and vended at every bar-room in the country as "pure liquors."

Coal Brandy is the latest adaptation of the good gifts of Providence to the purposes of poison mongers that has come to our knowledge, and doubtless deserves to be classed with the soldier's "commissary whisky," which is generally about as vile as it well can be. Coal tar has long been used for the flavoring of whiskies, but a liquor with a coal basis is a specimen of chemistry which might well make the best fellow shudder. Let those who practice daily imbibitions, in public or private, remember these undeniable facts, that it is almost impossible to obtain a pure article of liquors, even for medicinal purposes, and that the active poisons entering into their composition would, if taken in a concentrated form, produce instant death. Had the unaided human eye the power to discover at a glance the several ingredients which go to make up fashionable drinks, our most worthy "jolly fellows" would shrink from their taste, in very horror!—People's Journal of Health.

The Cause for Gold Excitement.

Speculators having succeeded in running gold up to an enormous figure, and the high price of gold having carried every wearable and eatable commodity, that people use, from cotton cloth and coffee, down to the more common articles of butter and eggs, up to fabulous rates—Mr. Secretary Chase proposes a remedy or rather two remedies for the evils that oppress the people. He recently addressed a letter to Mr. Fessenden of the Finance committee, which was read in the Senate by Mr. Sherman, in which he says:

"Sir:—Notwithstanding the diminished amount of the United States notes in circulation, and the gradual withdrawl from use, as currency, of interest-bearing United States notes made a legal tender for their face, the price of gold continues to advance. The effect can be attributed to one or two causes, and is probably due in part to each. First, the increase of the notes of local banks, and secondly, the efforts of speculators. I have hardly submitted, through you, to the consideration of the Committee on finance, a bill intended as a remedy for the first evil. I now beg leave to submit to its consideration a bill intended as a remedy for the second. The first bill, if it becomes a law, will have, I doubt not, the most salutary consequences. The effects of the second will probably be more immediate, though perhaps not of such permanent importance. I ask for both a candid consideration, and, if approved, the favorable action of Congress. It must not be thought, however, that I regard either or both of these measures adequate remedies for financial disorder. Nothing short of taxation to one-half of the amount of our current expenditures, and a reduction of those expenditures to the lowest point compatible with efficiency will secure financial success to the government, and without military success all measures will fail.

Very respectfully yours,
S. P. CHASE.

If there be any cure for high prices, and any method of bringing down the feverish pulse of excited and inflated trade to a slower and more healthy beat, it is high time Congress and Mr. Chase should put their heads together and devise ways and means to accomplish so desirable a result. There is no doubt but that the methods hinted at by the accomplished Secretary of the Treasury, will have the effect to allay somewhat the gold excitement which has given every conceivable article of use or fancy a fictitious value and placed many things of common necessity beyond the reach of people of limited means. Gold is the standard of value and carries everything with it. It possesses intrinsic worth which any paper issue does not and cannot, and hence when our paper evidence of indebtedness cannot be readily converted into specie, or when redemption in coin is remote or doubtful, gold at once cuts the acquaintance of the paper, and the flimsy currency must offer extra inducements to get back upon terms of familiarity with specie. Partly owing to the efforts of shrewd speculators and partly owing to an inflation of our local currency from which the obligation of redemption on demand has been removed, we find a paper dollar worth only a little more than one half its face in gold. The bill referred to by Mr. Chase proposes to check this inflation to some extent by fixing a good round tax upon the circulation of all local banking institutions. This is just and right. As matters now stand the banks are suffered to gather large semi-annual profits upon the paper that nobody knows will ever be redeemed, and there is no good reason why the price of the poor man's bread should be doubled (his butter is now out of the question) and every article of provision put at starvation prices, in order that a few bankers may wax rich in consequence. If individuals or corporations furnish the circulating medium which the Government ought to furnish, they should be made to pay a small portion at least of the taxation to which their operations subject the community.

The other points touched upon by the Secretary's letter, are quite as important and necessary to correct the evils that now beset us, as the one hinted at above. "Nothing short of taxation to one half the amount of our current expenditures," says Mr. Chase, "and a reduction of those expenditures to the lowest point compatible with efficiency, will insure financial success to the Government, and," he adds what the most casual observer must long since felt assured of, "without military success all measures will fail!" That is the great panacea for all the ills that afflict the nation. Give us military success, and the evils that grow out of high prices and an inflated currency will pass the nation as the idle wind which we regard not. And why can we not have it? With an army more than double that of the enemy—with every conceivable or needed appliance of war on sea and land—with immense wealth, unbounded resources, immeasurable patriotism, and an undying determination on the part of the loyal masses to save the Government as our fathers made it, why cannot the common enemy, hemmed in and weakened as he is on every side, be struck one mortal blow?

Strike, O, Father Abraham! and give your people peace.

THE NATION—Humanity, and Freedom may well mourn the death of Owen P. Lovejoy. In all history, there is not a more beautiful and touching record than the following from Mrs. Livermore's notice in the New Covenant:

"At the funeral ceremonies in Brooklyn, where he died, a common soldier, a stranger, came and knelt by his coffin and kissed him. An old colored woman also came and kissed him and held up her little child to kiss him."

AN unpleasant development was made in Cincinnati the other day concerning Catawba brandy. Responsible vinters declared that the pure article would cost from five to eight dollars a gallon, adding that there was no genuine article of the kind in the market—the quality generally sold consisting of pomace, whiskey and fusel oil.

LYON'S KATHAIRON.

LYON'S KATHAIRON—Kathairon is from the Greek word "Kathro," or "Kathairo," signifying to cleanse, rejuvenate, and restore. This article is what its name signifies. For preserving, restoring, and beautifying the human hair, it is the most remarkable preparation in the world. It is again owned and put up by the original proprietor, and is now made with the same care, skill, and attention which gave it a sale of over one million bottles per annum.

It is a most delightful Hair Dressing.
It eradicates scurf and dandruff.
It keeps the head cool and clean.
It makes the hair rich, soft and glossy.
It prevents the hair from falling off and turning grey.
It restores hair upon bald heads.

Any lady or gentleman who values a beautiful head of hair should use Lyon's Kathairon. It is known and used throughout the civilized world. Sold by all respectable dealers. DEMAS S. BARNES & CO.,

PHŒNIX INSURANCE CO.,

HARTFORD, CONN.

The Kind of Insurance Worth Having!

On the morning of the 23d of February, the brick block, occupied by the "Lafayette Journal Co." in Lafayette, Ind., was burned to the ground. The PHŒNIX had a policy of $5,000 on the type, presses and machinery of the "Journal"—the proofs of the loss were handed in at the General Agency Office in Cincinnati on the 26th, and on the same day, Mr. Schuyler, representing the "Journal Co." received a draft for the full amount of his policy, as will be seen by the following receipt:

$5,000.

CINCINNATI, O., Feb. 26th, 1864.
Received of the PHŒNIX INSURANCE COMPANY, of Hartford, Connecticut, by H. M. Magill, General Agent of said Company, the sum of FIVE THOUSAND DOLLARS, it being in full of all claims and demands for loss or damage under Policy No. 2,316, issued at the Lafayette, Ind., Agency of the said Company, the loss originating by destruction of Printing Stock, on Feb. 23d, 1864. W. H. SCHUYLER, for Lafayette Jour. Co.

ROBINSON & HOWE'S

CHAMPION CIRCUS!

THE LARGEST & BEST

IN THE WORLD,

with the only

Great Living Horseman!

on either Hemisphere. The most wonderful Acrobats, prettiest Female Performers, funnier Clowns and Commedians, more Horses, Ponies and Mules than any any concern ever organized, will visit Janesville, Thursday, April 28th.

Performance afternoon and night. Doors open at 1 and 7 P. M. Entertainments will commence one hour after opening.

Admission—Dress circle and Range 50 cents; children under ten years of age, 25 cents: Pit, 25 cents. SEATS FOR EVERYBODY!

The following eminent artistes will appear, both day and night, in scenes, acts and representations identical with those that created such a furore for Twenty-Eight Consecutive Weeks in the Garden City!

and won for the establishment the title of the BEST CIRCUS EVER IN CHICAGO!

JAMES ROBINSON!

Bare-back Equestrian, who has challenged any rider in the Universe to compete with him for $10,000, will accomplish at every display his Sensational Pirouette Act.

MADLLE ELISE,

Premiere Equestrienne, from the Cirque Nationale, Paris, Royal Amphitheatre, London, and Chirari's Circus, Havana, has been engaged for the season of 1864.

The four Wonderful Acrobats

Burrows, Kelly, Bordeau and Carr!

in graphic and startling calesthenics, introducing the

DOUBLE TRAPAZE!

The Two Facetious Fiddlers, and the new Spanish Act, entitled LOS DOS COMICOS.

W. H. LESTER,	JOHN GLENROY,
C. DAVIS,	SAM RINGHART,
J. BURNS,	ADOLPH GONZALES,
W. BLAZE,	R. JOHNSON,
MASTER CLARENCE,	WM. HUFFMON,
	FRANK J. HOWES.

The Equestrian Splendors and Pageants will be led by Madame Marguerette.

THE HUMORS OF THE HOUR will be given by these two celebrated Clowns, Albert F. Aymar and John L. Davenport.

Among the trained steeds which will command special attention will be the jet black Stallion,

"Gen. U. S. Grant!"

and the Champion White War Charger,

"Gen. Geo. B. McClellan!"

Special Card.—The unapproachable ROBINSON will ride a different act at each performance. The Champion Circus will travel by Railroad in a special train, chartered by the Management for convenience and dispatch.

The interior of the Pavilion will present a neat and imposing appearance, with the arena covered with rich Turkey Tapestry.

THE TWO COMIC MULES!

"Broad Gauge," and "Bean Hacket," will invariably be introduced to enhance the interest of the exhibition.

Grand March and Cavalcade every morning at 11 o'clock, when the public will have an opportunity of seeing and hearing Prof. Peter's Mounted Cornet Band.

THURSDAY, APRIL 21, 1864.

"AM I FOR PEACE? YES!"

[Hon. Daniel S. Dickinson, that grand old Democrat of New York, being written to by a lady, and the inquiry made of him if he was for peace, returned this ringing reply.—Iron Platform.]

For the peace which rings out from the cannon's throat,
And the suasion of shot and shell,
Till rebellion's spirit is trampled down
To the depths of its kindred hell.

For the peace which shall follow the squadron's tramp,
Where the brazen trumpets bray,
And, drunk with the fury of storm and strife,
The blood-red chargers neigh.

For the peace that shall wash out the leprous stain
Of our slavery—foul and grim—
And shall sunder the fetters which creak and clank
On the down-trodden black man's limb.

I will curse him as a traitor, and false of heart,
Who would shrink from the conflict now,
And will stamp it with blistering, burning brand,
On his hideous, Cain-like brow.

Out! out of the way! with your spurious peace;
Which would make us rebellion's slaves;
We will rescue our land from the traitorous grasp
Or cover it over with graves.

Out! out of the way! with your knavish schemes,
You trembling and trailing pack!
Crouch away in the dark like a sneaking hound,
That its master had beaten back.

You would barter the fruit of our father's blood,
And sell out the Stripes and Stars,
To purchase a place with rebellion's votes,
Or escape from rebellion's scars.

By the widow's wail, by the mother's tears,
By the orphans who cry for bread,
By our sons who fell, we will never yield
Till rebellion's soul is dead!

—There is but one end to a life of drink, and that is hell. It matters little whether the popular doctrine of future torment be admitted or not to make my statement good. A body long abused by drink becomes all we can conceive of is hell. It is the dwelling place of torment—the home of horror.—Timothy Titcomb.

NOW OPEN FOR THE PUBLIC.

Porter's Photograph Parlors,

On Main street, over Riordan & Leech's, and opposite McKey & Bro's store, in Dewey & Jenkin's Block. These rooms have been recently fitted up at a great expense, under the supervision of the proprietor. A large and has been built, and other facilities added, which, combined with the skill of an experienced Photographer, it is hoped will enable us to produce

SUPERIOR LIGHT

Superior and Beautiful Pictures FROM LIFE!

It is not intended, or PRETENDED, that Pictures can be had CHEAPER at the Parlors than elsewhere, and we shall not undertake to compete with others in Janesville, on low prices, but it is promised that the prices for pictures at the Parlors shall be as low as the same kind of work can be done for anywhere, and CHEAPER than many first class Galleries adopt. It shall be the constant aim of the proprietor of the "Parlor" to keep pace with all the improvements and discoveries made by the most advanced and scientific artists in the country. Those who are longing for

of their children, but who have failed through the impatience of the artist or other difficulties, are invited to call, when we promise that to all the means of the art known, to get them, shall be added patience and forbearance.

Old Daguerreotypes and Ambrotypes copied into Photographs, and enlarged to any size.

BEAUTIFUL AMBROTYPES!!

Which are said to be the only pictures that will keep at sea or in every climate, taken in all their varieties. GOTTSCHALK ON KNABE.

[Translated from the French.]

After having played on the Piano of Messrs. Knabe & Co., it is impossible not to bear testimony to their qualities, which have acquired for them the eminent reputation which they enjoy. The Pianos of their manufacture, on which I have played, are exceedingly remarkable for their qualities. The bass is powerful without harshness, and the upper notes sweet, clear and harmoniously mellow, (chrystaline,) and I do not hesitate to express in regard to these instruments my entire satisfaction, and to declare that they are equal if not superior to the best manufactured in Europe or this country by the most celebrated makers.

Signed, L. M. GOTTSCHALK.

Agricultural Implements.

FARMERS, TAKE NOTICE!

The undersigned are having made at Beloit, Wis, one hundred of those Reapers known as the Cheap, or Webber Reaper!

Notwithstanding the increase of nearly double in price over other years of all materials put in Reapers, we are going to sell for 1864 at about the same prices as before. Our prices at the shop are $110 cash for single Reaper, for Reaper and Mower $140. We are making Fifty Mowers, which will be warranted to do good work. They will be made of steel bars of the Buckeye pattern, except the hinges.

Those buying Reapers alone can have Mowers the next year or thereafter for the same price, as the difference between reaper and mower.

We do not deem it necessary to extol our Reaper, for it is already known to be the only two-horse Reaper in use. Notwithstanding a great many are used with two horses, they ought to use three or four, and some of them six, to be as easy to the horse as ours are to two ordinary horses.

Please send in your orders early to be sure of a machine, as positively only one hundred of them will be built, and we will warrant each and every machine to

Work Well in all Kinds of Grain!

The Reels will be different from last year. They will be the over hanging reel, and have six bats instead of four keeping the reel, holding the grain to the sickle steady.

They will be shipped to any depot in Wisconsin or Illinois. Ten per cent. will be added if sold on time. One half the 1st of September, 1864, the balance the 1st of September, 1865.

Those buying machines will confer a favor by giving this machine publicity in their respective neighborhoods. When material gets to its usual stage we intend to make it a ninety dollar machine, and should have done it but for the unprecedented high prices of everything to construct machines with.

The Reaper Shop at Afton!

will attend strictly to the repairing of the Webber Reaper. None others wanted. We are prepared to change from chain to belt, put on castor wheels upon short notice. Men will be on hand to repair promptly. Charges light as the cost of material will admit. We shall manufacture none at that place, consequently we will be prepared to repair. Work solicited. All orders should be directed to CHURCH, WEBBER & CO., Afton, Rock Co., Wis. 365ap5d1maw3m

Janesville Daily Gazette.

THURSDAY, APRIL 21, 1864.

"AM I FOR PEACE? YES!"

[Hon. Daniel S. Dickinson, that grand old Democrat of New York, being written to by a lady, and the inquiry made of him if he was for peace, returned this ringing reply.—Iron Platform.]

For the peace which rings out from the cannon's throat,
And the suasion of shot and shell,
Till rebellion's spirit is trampled down
To the depths of its kindred hell.

For the peace which shall follow the squadron's tramp,
Where the brazen trumpets bray,
And, drunk with the fury of storm and strife,
The blood-red chargers neigh.

For the peace that shall wash out the leprous stain
Of our slavery—foul and grim—
And shall sunder the fetters which creak and clank
On the down-trodden black man's limb.

I will curse him as a traitor, and false of heart,
Who would shrink from the conflict now,
And will stamp it with blistering, burning brand,
On his hideous, Cain-like brow.

Out! out of the way! with your spurious peace;
Which would make us rebellion's slaves;
We will rescue our land from the traitorous grasp
Or cover it over with graves.

Out! out of the way! with your knavish schemes,
You trembling and trading pack!
Crouch away in the dark like a sneaking hound,
That its master had beaten back.

You would barter the fruit of our father's blood,
And sell out the Stripes and Stars,
To purchase a place with rebellion's votes,
Or escape from rebellion's scars.

By the widow's wail, by the mother's tears,
By the orphans who cry for bread,
By our sons who fell, we will never yield
Till rebellion's soul is dead!

—There is but one end to a life of drink, and that is hell. It matters little whether the popular doctrine of future torment be admitted or not to make my statement good. A body long abused by drink becomes all we can conceive of is hell. It is the dwelling place of torment—the home of horror.—Timothy Titcomb.

COTTSCHALK ON KNABE.

[Translated from the French.]

After having played on the Piano of Messrs. Knabe & Co., it is impossible not to bear testimony to their qualities, which have acquired for them the eminent reputation which they enjoy. The Pianos of their manufacture, on which I have played, are exceedingly remarkable for their qualities. The base is powerful without harshness, and the upper notes sweet, clear and harmoniously mellow, (chrystaline,) and I do not hesitate to express in regard to these instruments my entire satisfaction, and to declare that they are equal if not superior to the best manufactured in Europe or this country by the most celebrated makers.

Agricultural Implements.

FARMERS, TAKE NOTICE!

The undersigned are having made at Beloit, Wis., one hundred of those Reapers known as the Cheap, or Webber Reaper!

Nothwithstanding the increase of nearly double in price over other years of all materials put in Reapers, we are going to sell for 1864 at about the same prices as before. Our prices at the shop are $110 cash for single Reaper, for Reaper and Mower $140. We are making Fifty Mowers, which will be warranted to do good work. They will be made of steel bars of the Buckeye pattern, except the hinges.
Those buying Reapers alone can have Mowers the next year or thereafter for the same price, as the difference between reaper and mower.
We do not deem it necessary to extol our Reaper, for it is already known to be the only two-horse Reaper in use. Notwithstanding a great many are used with two horses, they ought to use three or four, and some of them six, to be as easy to the horse as ours are to two ordinary horses.
Please send in your orders early to be sure of a machine, as positively only one hundred of them will be built, and we will warrant each and every machine to

Work Well in all Kinds of Grain!

The Reels will be different from last year. They will be the over hanging reel, and have six bats instead of four keeping the reel, holding the grain to the sickle steady.
They will be shipped to any depot in Wisconsin or Illinois. Ten per cent. will be added if sold on time. One half the 1st of September, 1864, the balance the 1st of September, 1865.
Those buying machines will confer a favor by giving this machine publicity in their respective neighborhoods. When material gets to its usual stage we intend to make it a ninety dollar machine, and should have done it but for the unprecedented high prices of everything to construct machines with.

The Reaper Shop at Afton!

will attend strictly to the repairing of the Webber Reaper. None others wanted. We are prepared to change from chain to belt, put on castor wheels upon short notice. Men will be on hand to repair promptly. Charges light as the cost of material will admit. We shall manufacture none at that place, consequently we will be prepared to repair. Work solicited. BADGER STATE NURSERY

LOUDON & ROBINSON,

Proprietors.

Persons in want of fruit trees will find at our nursery a large stock of the following kinds:

Apple, Pear, Cherry, Peach, Apricot, Nectarines. Of small fruits: Strawberries, Raspberries, Gooseberries, Blackberries, Currants, Grapes, &c., &c.

We have a large lot of grape vines, embracing over 150 varieties, including all of the old varieties, and most of the new and rare sorts.

Of ornamental trees, shrubs and evergreens, our stock is unrivalled. It embraces Maples, Elms, Ash, Buttonwood, Willows, Horse Chestnut, Mountain Ash, Basswood, Evergreens of every variety, Snowballs, Lilacs, Syringas, Dogwood, Weigelas, Roses, Flowering Almond, Spiraes, Roses, Japanese Quince, &c., &c., &c. In fact our space will not admit of an enumeration of the immense number of kinds and varieties of which our stock is composed.

Our trees and plants will be sold at greatly reduced rates, and are larger and better in every respect than those that are hawked about the country by peddlers of Eastern trees, of which one per cent. was never known to survive even the mildest Western winter.

Some portions of the nursery occupies leased land, which has to be cleared this spring. For this reason we shall offer great inducements to purchasers. Our bedding out and greenhouse plants will not be ready till about the middle of May. 301mr22d1maw3t

FLORENCE SEWING MACHINE

Over the Post Office!

There is nothing so much sought for by the public as a practical Sewing Machine, one that is Simple, Strong & Reliable.

One that will run for years without the annoyance of being out of repair; one that is noiseless and swift in motion; also that makes the stitch as you want it, alike on both sides of the fabric; such are the machines of the

COMPANY!

Who take pleasure in placing their machines before the public, and unhesitatingly say they are the best in the world, and openly and publicly challenge machines of any and all manufactures to do as large a range of work as can easily be done on one of these machines. They make

and have all the advantages of a reversible feed motion, which carries the work either way, which, together with making all the four stitches, can be done whilst the machine is in motion; the saving of time in stepping to change the length of stitch, is obviated by this machine.

Any correspondence regarding our machines will be promptly answered. Enclose a letter stamp and we will send circular and sample of work by return mail.

GREAT BOUNTIES PAID TO

U. S. VOLUNTEERS.

The following Bounties and Premiums will be paid to recruits enlisting for three years service:

Every Recruit who is a Veteran Volunteer, one month's pay in advance, and a Bounty and Premium in enstalments amounting to $402.

To all other Recruits not Veterans, one month's pay in advance, and a Bounty and Premium in instalments amounting to $302.

All the Bounty and Premium paid, even if the war closes immediately after enlistment.

Protection to Widows and Orphans.

All the Bounty paid to Legal Heirs, if the soldier dies in the service.

You can serve in any Regiment you choose now in the field.

The following PREMIUMS will be paid to any person other than an officer, who shall bring in an accepted Veteran Recruit.

A Premium of	$25 00
For an accepted Recruit (not a veteran)	15 00
For a Deserter,	30 00

In offering these liberal terms, Bounties and Premiums, it is the desire of the Government to give the people an opportunity of doing away with the necessity for the draft, to come off January 5th, 1863, under the President's last call of October 17th, for 300,000 men. So that all sub-districts who furnish their quota under this last call will not be liable to the draft of January 5th, 1864, and will be credited for whatever number they furnish.

It should be understood that all enlistments whether or under the above conditions, or in other organizations, will be credited in this last call.

For further information, come to the office of the Provost Marshal, 2d District.

COUGH BALSAM

Over Five Thousand Bottles have been sold in its native town, and not a single instance of its failure is known. We have, in our possession, any quantity of certificates, some of them from eminent Physicians, who have used it in their practice, and given it the pre-eminence over any other compound.

It does not Dry up a Cough, but loosens it, so as to enable the patient to expectorate freely. Two or three doses will invariably cure Tickling in the Throat. A half bottle has often COMPLETELY CURED the most and yet, though it is so sure and speedy in its operation, it is perfectly harmless, being purely vegetable. It is very agreeable to the taste, and may be administered to children of any age.

IN CASES OF CROUP,

we will guarantee a cure if taken in season. No family should be without it. It is within the reach of all the price being and if an investment and thorough trial does not "back up" the above statement, the money will be refunded. We say this, knowing its merits, and feel confident that one trial will secure for it a home in every household.

Only Twenty-Five Cents

CHAS. G. WILLIAMS,
275mr22doaw7w Pl'ff's Att'y, Janesville, Wis.

OFFICE of Building Commissioners, MADISON, April 13, 1864.

Notice is hereby given that sealed proposals will be received at the Executive Office, Madison, until twelve o'clock noon, of Tuesday, the 24th day of May, 1864, for the completion of the south wing of the Capitol, except the finishing of the basement, and except the front verandah, steps and balcony, and also for the completion of the centre part and rotunda, up to the top of the roof of the east and west wings, as provided by chapter 245 of the general laws of 1861, to which, and to chapter 26 of the general laws of 1857, reference is hereby made.

All the work to be executed, and all materials furnished in accordance with the plans and specifications of the architect, Mr. Kutsbock, at whose office in the city of Madison, all persons desiring to bid will find full and complete plans and specifications, at any time after the 20th inst.

The work is to be executed under the general direction of the architect employed by the State to superintend the construction of the same; the whole of the work to be completed on or before the 31st day of December, 1864.

A bond of twenty thousand dollars will be required to be executed to the State, by the person or persons taking the contract, with four or more sureties to be approved by the undersigned building commissioners, conditioned for the prompt and faithful prosecution and completion of the work under such contract. All proposals must specify the names of the sureties proposed to be given, and must contain their consent to the use of their names as such.

Any contract made under the provisions of said act will reserve the right and power in the State to declare such contract abandoned and forfeited, if the contractors shall neglect or abandon the work, or fail to prosecute the same with such diligence and dispatch as will reasonably secure the completion of the work in the time specified in such contract; and such contract will provide that no liability whatever shall exist on the part of the State for any service rendered under or upon any contract so abandoned or forfeited.

No bid will be received or considered except for the completion of the entire work proposed to be done, and no contract will be entered into for the performance of such work, that shall create any liability against the State greater than thirty-five thousand dollars, the largest sum for which such contract can be let, under chapter 315 of the general laws of 1861.

Upon the opening of said bids at the time specified, the undersigned building commissioners will award the contract to the person or persons they shall determine to be the lowest and best bidder, within the meaning of the law.

BADGER STATE NURSERY

LOUDON & ROBINSON,

Proprietors.

Persons in want of fruit trees will find at our nursery a large stock of the following kinds:

Apple, Pear, Cherry, Peach, Apricot, Nectarines. Of small fruits: Strawberries, Raspberries, Gooseberries, Blackberries, Currants, Grapes, &c., &c.

We have a large lot of grape vines, embracing over 150 varieties, including all of the old varieties, and most of the new and rare sorts.

Of ornamental trees, shrubs and evergreens, our stock is unrivalled. It embraces Maples, Elms, Ash, Buttonwood, Willows, Horse Chestnut, Mountain Ash, Basswood, Evergreens of every variety, Snowballs, Lilacs, Syringas, Dogwood, Weigelas, Roses, Flowering Almond, Spiraes, Roses, Japanese Quince, &c., &c., &c. In fact our space will not admit of an enumeration of the immense number of kinds and varieties of which our stock is composed.

Our trees and plants will be sold at greatly reduced rates, and are larger and better in every respect than those that are hawked about the country by peddlers of Eastern trees, of which one per cent. was never known to survive even the mildest Western winter.

Some portions of the nursery occupies leased land, which has to be cleared this spring. For this reason we shall offer great inducements to purchasers. Our bedding out and greenhouse plants will not be ready till about the middle of May. 301mr22d1maw3t

Over the Post Office!

There is nothing so much sought for by the public as a practical Sewing Machine, one that is Simple, Strong & Reliable.

One that will run for years without the annoyance of being out of repair; one that is noiseless and swift in motion; also that makes the stitch as you want it, alike on both sides of the fabric; such are the machines of the

COMPANY!

Who take pleasure in placing their machines before the public, and unhesitatingly say they are the best in the world, and openly and publicly challenge machines of any and all manufactures to do as large a range of work as can easily be done on one of these machines. They make

and have all the advantages of a reversible feed motion, which carries the work either way, which, together with making all the four stitches, can be done whilst the machine is in motion; the saving of time in stepping to change the length of stitch, is obviated by this machine.

Any correspondence regarding our machines will be promptly answered. Enclose a letter stamp and we will send circular and sample of work by return mail.

GREAT BOUNTIES PAID TO

U. S. VOLUNTEERS.

The following Bounties and Premiums will be paid to recruits enlisting for three years service:

Every Recruit who is a Veteran Volunteer, one month's pay in advance, and a Bounty and Premium in enstalments amounting to $402.

To all other Recruits not Veterans, one month's pay in advance, and a Bounty and Premium in instalments amounting to $302.

All the Bounty and Premium paid, even if the war closes immediately after enlistment.

Protection to Widows and Orphans.

All the Bounty paid to Legal Heirs, if the soldier dies in the service.

You can serve in any Regiment you choose now in the field.

The following PREMIUMS will be paid to any person other than an officer, who shall bring in an accepted Veteran Recruit.

A Premium of	$25 00
For an accepted Recruit (not a veteran)	15 00
For a Deserter,	30 00

In offering these liberal terms, Bounties and Premiums, it is the desire of the Government to give the people an opportunity of doing away with the necessity for the draft, to come off January 5th, 1863, under the President's last call of October 17th, for 300,000 men. So that all sub-districts who furnish their quota under this last call will not be liable to the draft of January 5th, 1864, and will be credited for whatever number they furnish.

It should be understood that all enlistments whether under the above conditions, or in other organizations, will be credited in this last call.

For further information, come to the office of the Provost Marshal, 2d District.

CHAS. G. WILLIAMS,

336mr29doow7w Pl'ff's Att'y, Janesville, Wis.

OFFICE of Building Commissioners,

MADISON, April 13, 1864.

Notice is hereby given that sealed proposals will be received at the Executive Office, Madison, until twelve o'clock noon, of Tuesday, the 24th day of May, 1864, for the completion of the south wing of the Capitol, except the finishing of the basement, and except the front verandah, steps and balcony, and also for the completion of the centre part and rotunda, up to the top of the roof of the east and west wings, as provided by chapter 345 of the general laws of 1864, to which, and to chapter 26 of the general laws of 1857, reference is hereby made.

All the work to be executed, and all materials furnished in accordance with the plans and specifications of the architect, Mr. Kutsbock, at whose office in the city of Madison, all persons desiring to bid will find full and complete plans and specifications, at any time after the 20th inst.

The work is to be executed under the general direction of the architect employed by the State to superintend the construction of the same; the whole of the work to be completed on or before the 31st day of December, 1864.

A bond of twenty thousand dollars will be required to be executed to the State, by the person or persons taking the contract, with four or more sureties to be approved by the undersigned building commissioners, conditioned for the prompt and faithful prosecution and completion of the work under such contract. All proposals must specify the name of the sureties proposed to be given, and must contain their consent to the use of their names as such.

Any contract made under the provisions of said act will reserve the right and power in the State to declare such contract abandoned and forfeited, if the contractors shall neglect or abandon the work, or fail to prosecute the same with such diligence and dispatch as will reasonably secure the completion of the work in the time specified in such contract; and such contract will provide that no liability whatever shall exist on the part of the State for any service rendered under or upon any contract so abandoned or forfeited.

No bid will be received or considered except for the completion of the entire work proposed to be done, and no contract will be entered into for the performance of such work, that shall create any liability against the State greater than thirty-five thousand dollars, the largest sum for which such contract can be let, under chapter 345 of the general laws of 1864.

Upon the opening of said bids at the time specified, the undersigned building commissioners will award the contract to the person or persons they shall determine to be the lowest and best bidder, within the meaning of the law.
